Myers named Man of Year

Peter C. Myers, 1007 Davis Blvd., was named the Man of the Year Thursday night at the 24th annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at Ramada Inn.

Myers, 43, is active in farming, civic and religious affairs in Sikeston.

Both he and his wife Mary are natives of Racine, Wis., a city of 100,000 located on Lake Michigan. They have five children. Myers graduated in 1953 from University of Wisconsin with a degree in animal husbandry. In 1955, after two years in the Army, he moved to Canalou where he rented 195 acres of land and began a farming career.

In 1970, he moved his family to Sikeston.

His farming operation has grown to over 2,000 acres. He is building a herd of beef cattle and grows and processes over 1,000 hogs a year.

He was awarded the Outstanding Young Farmer Award in 1966 by the Sikeston Jaycees in an area-wide competition, and the same year won the state award. In 1967, he won one of four national awards for Outstanding Young Farmers by the U. S. Jaycees.

He has been a member of the Sikeston Rotary Club for four years. He has served on the organization's board of directors and for three years the Chili Day chairman.

He has been a 4-H leader for 20 years, heads a swine production project for the area, provides acreage for conservation and camping and was involved in tree planting projects on both Allen and Davis Boulevards.

For the past three years, Myers has been chairman of the Youth Fair held annually in Sikeston for young people throughout the area.

He has been active in the Future Farmers of America program, organizing juding teams for both cattle and hogs and has also assisted the vocational agriculture teacher at Matthews High School.

He is the agricultural consultant for the Girl Scout International Wider Opportunity event to be held in Sikeston in August 1975. He will organize field trips so the girls may learn about Southeast Missouri agriculture.

Myers is a member of Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church, where he has been an active deacon for three years and a ruling elder for two years. He also is the Christian educational chairman, coach of the church basketball team, member of the church softball team and helps in youth activities of the church.

He is a past Sunday School superintendent and is now a Sunday School teacher. Myers is also a lay minister who fills the pulpit in the absence of the minister. He and his wife belong to the Ecumenical Couples Club, an inter-racial, inter-denominational organization which discusses current social issues at its meetings.

Myers is the current president of the Lee Hunter Elementary School Parent- Teachers Association in Sikeston and is a past PTA president of the school of Matthews.

He has been active in the Sikeston Jaycees, assisting them in the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo and was chairman of the Outstanding Young Farmer program for four years before winning the award himself in 1966.

He has served for the past three years on the advisory board of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Council for the entire operation for low - income people in the Missouri Bootheel.

In 1970, he was given a Centennial Award by the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

He is president of the New Madrid County Farm Bureau and is a member of the Scott County Pork Producers Association and Missouri Livestock Producers Association.

He has been active in state politics, supporting candidates on a non-partisan basis. He does not belong to or associate himself with any particular political party, preferring to support the candidate as a man rather than as a political party member.

Myers is a member of the Governor's Advisory Council and the state task force for international business development.

He is a past member of the Missouri Farm Bureau board of directors composed of six men selected on a statewide basis.

He is an alternate delegate to the National Cotton Producers Association.

He has been featured in the St. Louis Post- Dispatch Sunday Magazine and has been the subject of feature articles in several monthly agricultural publications.

The guest speaker at the banquet was George Gray, director of community development and governmental affairs on the executive staff of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

Gray said Sikeston and St. Louis share some common elements which make them attractive to industry. Both are near the center of the nation and make good distribution points, both have abundant land and both have a large source of available manpower.

He said Sikeston and the area should set a goal and work toward it. The Chamber of Commerce is the ideal organization to get the job done, he said.

It's necessary to get all the citizens in the community involved and to realize the project will take time to complete, he added.

Associate offices serve as information clearing houses and as listening posts for input into the department from the area. Approximately 750 chambers participate in the program.

Murder suspect bound over to Circuit Court

CHARLESTON — Mrs. Alma Williams of Charleston was bound over to Circuit Court Thursday following a preliminary hearing on a second- degree murder charge before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr.

Mrs. Williams, who is accused of the April 20 stabbing death of Lenora Henderson of Charleston, remains in custody under $1,000 bond which was set Thursday.

According to Dr. Ahlvin, Miss Henderson's death resulted from a one- half inch long wound, three and one-half inches or more in depth, at the base of the neck on the right side, caused from a cutting type instrument which went through a neck muscle, continued into the chest cavity and damaged one of the pulmonary arteries allowing blood to escape and fill the chest cavity. He said the escaping blood collected in the pericardium sac, choking off the heart and causing death.

Mrs. Johnson testified she was in Johnnie Joyner's car the night of April 20, along with Mrs. Williams, Miss Henderson, Miss Moore and Miss Standback. She said the group had been to Wyatt and, on the return trip, Miss Henderson was teasing Mrs. Williams by pulling at her wig. Miss Henderson was in the back seat of the car and Mrs. Williams was in the front seat.

According to Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Williams told Miss Henderson to stop pulling at her wig several times, and she quoted Mrs. Williams as telling her, "You will stop". She said Mrs. Williams then pulled aknife from her purse, said, "Now do it again," and turned around in the seat and hit at Miss Henderson over the back of the seat.

Although she did not see the knife, Mrs. Johnson said she heard Miss Henderson say she had been cut.

Testimony from Miss Moore and Miss Standback corresponded with testimony by Mrs. Johnson, although both testified they saw the weapon, which appeared to be a butcher knife.

In another case, Delbert Curtis of Charleston was bound over to Circuit Court for a May 14 appearance following a preliminary hearing on a burglary and larceny charge.

Earnie Doyle Green of East Prairie, arrested with Curtis, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court.

Green was released after posting $1,000 bond, and Curtis is free on $2,500 bond.

Testifying at Curtis's preliminary were Charleston Police Chief Bob Ritchey, Paul Barnes and Mrs. Roberta Powell of Charleston. The charges against Green and Curtis stem from a break-in at the Paul Barnes home, 407 N. Virginia St., and the theft of about 26 guns.

Eight guns were introduced into evidence, and according to Chief Ritchey, six of the guns were obtained from Richard McCollough, who reportedly bought the guns from Curtis and Green. The other two guns were found under some bushes on South Main Street by children.

Barnes testified that he and his wife were away from home March 5-13 and found the garage doors at their home open on their return and the glass in the back door broken out.

He said 26 guns were missing from his gun case and a jewelry case from a chest of drawers in a bedroom was also missing. He identified the eight guns as his property and said he had been collecting them for 12 to 15 years.

Barnes said he did not have the serial numbers of the guns written down but was able to identify his own merchandise. The other guns have not been recovered.

Mrs. Powell, a sister- in-law of Barnes, testified she had been going by the Barnes

Freedom Shrine to be dedicated

The Exchange Club of Sikeston will present a Freedom Shrine— an exhibit of 28 authentic reproductions of historically famous American documents— to Sikeston Junior High School, club president Duane DeCota announced today.

The shrine will be formally dedicated at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the new junior high school, where the collection will be on permanent display. The documents in the exhibit span 325 years from the Mayflower Compact to the World War II instrument of surrender in the Pacific.

James I. Spainhower of Jefferson City, Missouri state treasurer, will deliver the dedicatory address, and, DeCota will make the presentation on behalf of the Exchange Club. Accepting for the junior high school will be principal W. L. Clayton.

DeCota said, "The Freedom Shrine is exclusively an Exchange Club project, and an important part of the overall American citizenship program of Exchange. Its documents vividly illustrate America's precious heritage of freedom and serve as a reminder that it must be protected and revitalized in every generation.

"The Freedom Shrine is the Exchange Club's positive rebuttal to all ideologies which would pervert or destroy our American way of life," he added.

All of the historical papers in the Freedom Shrine collection are exact photographic reproductions of the priceless originals. Each document is permanently mounted on an individual wood- grained plaque and protected against deterioration and damage by plastic lamination.

Prairie reviews budget

EAST PRAIRIE — A proposed city operating budget of $365,000 for 1974-75 was submitted for review to the City Council Thursday night by City Manager Bob Kakac. Action on the budget will be taken at a later date.

It was announced that the city has signed a contract with Bill Jones, operator of Jones Sanitation Service, for a solid waste disposal service to go into effect June 1. Residents will be charged $3 a month for the service. The fee will be added to the July water bill, with $2.50 going to Jones and 50 cents to the city for billing and collecting. Metal or weather- proof plastic containers from 20 to 30 gallons in capacity with lid and handles will be required. Curbside or alley pickups will be made weekly.

The council agreed to sign a contract with Missouri Petroleum Products Co. of Overland for street oil. At present, the cost of the oil is 38.5 cents per gallon, compared to 19.1 cents per gallon last year.

Ken Stallings, a representative of the accounting firm of James V. Stallings and Co. of Sikeston, met with the council for discussion of his company's price for doing utility billing for the city. An estimated price of 22 to 25 cents per bill was given.

Objections to the ways lifeguards are hired for the city's swimming pool were voiced by Mrs. Elsie Morris and Jack Emory, parents of two girls who worked as life guards at the pool last year. The matter was referred to City Manager Kakac.

The pool will open June 4 and be managed by Robert Hess. Last year six girls were hired as lifeguards, and this year four girls and two boys were selected by Hess for approval by Kakac.

City Attorney Fielding Potashnick of Sikeston was instructed to draw up legal papers calling for the advertisement for bids on the sale of the city - owned building on Washington Drive. He was also authorized to file the city's objection to the increase in the gas rate sought by Arkansas Missouri Power Co.

The city has been requested to give financial assistance to the Mississippi County Retired Senior Volunteer Program, and Potashnick was asked to determine if revenue- sharing funds can be used for this purpose.

The collector reported April collections amounted to $17,981.52, and expenditures totaled $8,569.06. Fines for the month assessed by Police Judge Sidney Drummond were $1,352, with $974 of the amount collected.

Dexter soldier dies in crash

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three men killed in an Interstate 10 crash of two cars and a truck Thursday were identified today.

Police listed them as Michael G. Barker, 23, an Army lieutenant from Dexter, Mo.; Eugene Carl Thrift, 19, of Jacksonville; Kay Junior Lester, 24, of Columbus, Ohio.

Barker was alone in his car headed westward from Jacksonville. Police said Barker's car crossed the grassy median and ran head-on into an eastbound car driven by Thrift with Lester as a passenger.

Waldman withdraws

BENTON — Phil Waldman Jr. of Sikeston withdrew Thursday as a candidate for County Clerk in the Aug. 6 Democratic primary election.

He had previously filed as a candidate for the office held by Bob Kielhofner of Chaffee, who is seeking re-election.

Waldman held the county clerk post prior to an unsuccessful bid in 1970 for the county collector's position.

Sikeston man turns 108

He was born to former slaves in Meadeville, Miss. in 1865, the year the Civil War ended.

Moore's first 13 years were spent on his "parents' cotton farm." Then, on his 13th Christmas day, he left home to start decades of traveling around the United States.

First stop was New Orleans, then to the West, back to Chicago and around the nation. He says that at various times he worked on farms, cleaned a pool hall in Chicago, gambled in Memphis and trapped furs for a living.

Missouri finally became Moore's home then he moved to Sikeston in 1939. He has lived at 1600 rear North Street since 1956.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

* * *

It's Spring! That time of year when nature shows off its beauty and perfection is here. Unfortunately, nature sometimes falls short of its usual excellence. And, when those shortcomings manifest themselves as birth defects, the results is heartbreakingly tragic.

The National Foundation - March of Dimes, the voluntary heath organization dedicated to preventing birth defects, is launching Healthy Baby Week this Sunday, Mother's Day, May 12.

Healthy Baby Week is an annual event to inform all present and future mothers of the importance of medical care before, during, and after pregnancy.

Every mother needs regular care throughout pregnancy, including labor and delivery. She and her baby must have expert attention for any complication.

We urge the citizens of Sikeston to support this worthwhile effort. We support the efforts of The National Foundation - March of Dimes in establishing effective prenatal care centers. And, we implore all parents and parents- to- be to be aware of the dangers and join the fight against birth defects.

JUST SOME
POCKET CHANGE

Denied its request that Congress raise the ceiling for arms aid to South Vietnam from $1.126 to $1.6 billion for the current fiscal year, the Defense Department now reports that it has found an extra $266 million lying around the Pentagon not doing anything. If Congress doesn't object — and Congress apparently won't — it will be forwarded to our Southeast Asia friends.

It is not clear just where this $266 million was hiding or what it was originally intended for. It is a pittance, really, left over from last year's defense appropriation.

But — foolish question — would it ever have been found had Congress not said "No" to the Pentagon's request for additional funds? Or if found, would it have been reported or turned back to the Treasury?

LIGHTING INDOOR PLANTS

Most plants you grow indoors need more light than they can get through the windows, and the American Association of Nurserymen has some pointers on the subject.

Foliage plants do best under fluorescent light, but flowering plants need a bit of incandescent lighting added to get some of the far-red rays from the color spectrum. Figure one watt of incandescent lighting for every three of fluorescent.

FIRE IN THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON-- The key word that keeps popping up in the transcripts of the presidential tapes is "scenario." The President and his aides kept coming up with a scenario for every setback in the Watergate case.

The one scenario they never constructed, and the most vital one in my opinion, is what they should have done when Alexander Butterfield disclosed the President had taped everyone who came into the Oval Office. If I had been the President's trusted adviser, this is how I would have handled it. I'll be B and the President will be P.

P: ('Oh fudge' deleted)

P: (Gee willikers! deleted) What do you suggest we do?

B: They're going to demand those tapes. You can bet your sweet (inaudible) on that. We have the following options. (A) we turn them over, (B) we refuse to turn them over or (C) we have a fire in the White House basement.

P: Tell me about "C."

B: Yes, sir. It's late at night and you're up in the bedroom and Mrs. Nixon says she smells smoke. You tell her Kissinger is probably burning some old cables.

P: (Golly gumdrops! deleted) suppose the butler comes in and says he smells smoke also?

B: You tell him to mind his own (expletive deleted) business and go back to bed.

P: Hmmmm. You know there are a (heckava deleted) lot of tapes in the basement. What happens when the fire department is called? They could put out the fire right away and save the tapes.

B: You stonewall them in the Rose Garden and tell them how proud you are of the fire fighters of America and how [illegible] them come to the White House at that hour in the morning. We'll get Pat Buchanan to write up a little speech for you to deliver in which you point out the difference between fire departments of the United States and those in the enslaved countries of the world that you have been to.

P: What are the differences?

B: In America every local community can choose its own fire- fighting equipment, and the government does not dictate what type of trucks they should order. If a community wants a hook and ladder, they can order a hook and ladder. If they decide they'd rather have a pumper, it's their option.

P: So while I'm reading the speech the fire in the basement is going full blast?

B: Right. Now for safety, what we ought to do is have you present each fireman with a scroll expressing the gratitude of every man, woman and child in this nation for the wonderful work they are doing. You could personally sign each one in front of them. This should give us enough time to burn up every tape you ever made.

P: (Yippee dee doo da! deleted) I could go on television the next day and say how distraught I am that these tapes, which would have proved my innocence, once and for all, have gone up in smoke and have been lost to history. But I can promise to turn over all my notes of those conversations which will show I knew nothing about Watergate or the coverup. Without the tapes we've got the darn Watergate committee by the (cat's whiskers deleted). Good work, Art. Oh, there is one more thing. How did the fire start in the first place?

B: John Dean was sneaking a smoke in the basement instead of doing what you asked him to do. And he threw his butt on the tapes.

DOWN ON LARSON'S FARM

One of the interesting things about Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers union is that it doesn't have many contracts or members any more; after the world famous table grape boycott of the late 1960s, the UFWA signed up 26 large California grape growers in one fell swoop but today it represents grape workers on only one California farm and it may have only 12 contracts in all.

To a large degree Mr. Chavez's troubles can be blamed on enmity from the growers and competition from the Teamsters union. But there also is evidence of disaffection among UFWA members. Last month, workers at the Coachella Valley vineyard of K. K. Larson voted overwhelmingly to ask Mr. Larson not to negotiate another contract with Mr. Chavez. Mr. Larson thereupon broke off negotiations with the UFWA. Last week, he negotiated a contract with the Teamsters.

This clue to Mr. Chavez's popularity with farm workers themselves has some importance because consumers soon are going to hear new demands to boycott California table trapes and lettuce on Mr. Chavez's behalf. The urging will come from the AFL-CIO, which has decided to skate very close to possible violations of anti-boycott laws to give Mr. Chavez some help. The Teamsters, by the way, are threatening to retaliate against AFL-CIO unions which respond to George Meany's boycott call.

Mr. Chavez and his host of admirers in distant liberal centers like Cambridge and Washington would have everyone believe he is fighting for the farm workers, not for union power. Mr. Meany says he too is fighting for the farm workers, although he has had some past reservations about how closely to identify with Chavez philosophies. And Frank Fitzsimmons of the Teamsters, who has captured much of the lettuce and grape country from Mr. Chavez, says naturally that he too is fighting for the workers.

It should be noted however that none of the three have been very conscientious about asking the farm workers what they themselves wanted. Many workers clearly have not wanted the kind of hiring hall regimentation and thought control Mr. Chavez sought to impose on them. By and large, the wheeling and dealing among the growers and unions has gone on over the worker's heads, with Mr. Chavez wielding his boycotts, Mr. Fitzsimmons his Teamster muscle and the growers trying to bet the corners.

Which may help explain why the workers down on Larson's farm petitioned for an election and voted 60 to 28 to get out. Since the election was an ad hoc affair supervised by a Catholic priest, the UFWA naturally is claiming hanky panky. But it would seem that Mr. Larson has little to gain from being put on the boycott list just when the AFL-CIO is weighing in.

There soon will probably be AFL-CIO pickets with boycott signs picketing neighborhood supermarkets. But when housewives and store managers ask themselves if this battle should somehow affect their consciences, they would have good reason for answering no. The same cannot be said for everyone involved -- The Wall Street Journal.

The nation's independent business proprietors don't think the Federal Estate Tax is a dead issue. Congress may treat it as one, but the business people are clammoring for a basic reform to stop the tax from being confiscatory, at least in some cases.

The Estate (or death) Tax has forced sale or liquidation of many family- owned businesses and farms, says Congressman O. C. Fisher of Texas, after death of a principal owner because of what he calls "unrealistic" appraisals. Land may be appraised on its highest potential use, and this, combined with low profitability, little cash or few liquid assets, may doom the business. This situation is aggravated by the current inflationary trend.

The solution proposed by Congressman Fisher, providing alternative methods of Estate Tax appraisal, has won support from 81 per cent of the business people polled by the National Federation of Independent Business. His bill would permit appraisal on either the decedent's cost basis, or the earning power of the business, whichever produces the higher valuation. The measure is opposed by only 13 per cent of the business owners with 6 per cent undecided.

The response of Missouri businessmen shows 81 per cent in favor of the Fisher bill, 13 per cent opposed and 6 per cent undecided.

Marginally- profitable businesses which, however, do provide sufficient income for a family are the most frequent losers to the Estate Tax. Former Senator Fred Harris of Oklahoma once commented: "Unfortunately, many revenue agents refuse to give any consideration whatsoever to the earning capacity of a ranch or farm in determining its value for Estate Tax purposes ... they rely only on inflated sale prices of similar farms which have been gobbled up by land speculators."

Representative Fisher's measure would permit the executor to choose the appraisal method, either accepting Internal Revenue's "market" value, or the higher of the new alternatives: the decedent's original cost basis, or a value based on average earnings over the past 10 years. The last method would be based on the 'price versus yield" multiplier of common stocks, as reported periodically by the Federal Reserve System. Thus, it would treat the private business like a publicly- owned corporation in determining "fair market value."

Critics of the Estate Tax also note that stocks and securities can be sold to satisfy the Estate Tax, but privately - owned firms generally have no such option.

The Estate Tax has also caused sale of many privately - held businesses prior to an owner's death to avoid this crisis for heirs. So the tax has contributed to mergers and sales of such businesses to corporations and conglomerates, it is charged. And this passage of land and business from family ownership is one of the major reasons why independent businessmen are most emphatic in supporting Representative Fisher's Estate Tax reform bill, says NFIB.

'THERE'S A SMALL HOTEL'

The diner was annoyed because the waiter had brought him a knife and fork, but no spoon. "This coffee," he said pointedly, "is going to be pretty hot to stir with my fingers."

The waiter reddened, and beat a hasty retreat to the kitchen. He returned shortly with another cup of coffee. "This one isn't so hot, sir," he beamed.

CONSEQUENCES TO CONTEMPLATE

Forecasts of possible power shortages have been fairly common due, in substantial part, to the delays imposed on power plant siting and construction by environmental litigation and time- consuming regulatory reviews. The consequences of a large- scale, prolonged power outage are grim indeed. The production vice president of an investor- owned electric company in Minnesota has described in graphic detail what happens when the power lines go dead.

"The first few minutes", he says, "... are rather fun for most people. They kid each other, make jokes ... after about two minutes, people start getting restless. Traffic jams are appearing. Managers begin to worry about production. Remember, no electric tool – from punch press to typewriter ... will work. As time passes, a sort of urgency sets in. Foremen start sending people home ... Water pressure doesn't last long because the pumps have quit ... The sewer system is likewise not working, and many low-lying homes are getting sewage backup because lift pumps are out ... After 20 hours or so, real hardship is felt by everyone. Mere survival becomes important ... Spread of diseases due to poor sanitation, spoiled food and so on becomes a problem ... an extended loss of electrical power over a wide area would be a catastrophe of the first magnitude. People would die because of it, and everyone would suffer hardship and financial loss."

The price of unnecessarily obstructing the timetable of utility plant construction and otherwise undermining future energy supplies is higher than the human mind can comprehend.

END OF WAGE-
PRICE CONTROLS
BRINGS PRESSURE

Price controls always have been failures and always will be. This difficult lesson must be re- learned every generation or two. Not even the powers of Roman emperors or the tyrannies of communism or nazism could make wage- price controls truly work.

Because of bickering and inept leadership, plus a mixture of odd reasons, Congress was unable to agree on anything to keep the law from expiring on schedule. Liberal politicians and unions, along with leftist professors, economists and mediamen, demanded originally that Congress enact the law setting up stand- by wage and price controls. Constructive members of Congress and the Administration opposed the law, pointing out the complete failure of controls even during and after world War II when the nation was united in a great crusade against the Nazis.

When excessive federal spending, deficits and increase of the money supply all combine to increase inflation, the demagogues began baying. They clamored until President Nixon knuckled under to the pressure and imposed a "freeze." The result was shortages and distortions, inequities and bankruptcies among producers.

Apparently few learned anything from that debacle, because the pressure is mounting already to again attempt the impossible. Demagogues imply to workers and investors alike that the other guy's wages and profits can be held down and his prices can be held below costs, but "ours" will not be bothered. It never works. The only solution to shortages is production. The only solution to "fair" prices is free competition. The only true gauge is profit-- or loss. HLH

Pop- Top War!
New Environmentalists' Attack on Cans Threatens Jobs of 100,000 Workers

WASHINGTON-- With the nation justifiably fascinated with transcripts, Senatorial environmentalists have declared war on the tin can, the pop- top or lift- off variety, to prove their devotion to cleanliness and to demonstrate that the Congress is still functioning.

No minor matter, this. With expletives deleted, it means that over 100,000 breadearners in the soft drink and beer container and distribution businesses could lose their jobs.

Further, since the new crusade is led by the articulate 51- year- old Senator from Oregon, Mark Hatfield, this marks the surfacing of the Republican Western dark horse in the GOP presidential sweepstakes of 1976-- a man who might be chosen to offset the zooming Democratic frontrunner, Washington state's Sen. Scoop Jackson.

Hatfield, a courageous fellow, who is his World War II Navy days hit the hell hole beaches of Iwo Jima and Okinawa, has introduced S. 2062-- a bill which would outlaw the use of pop- top cans and throwaway non- deposit bottles as beverage containers. Hatfield refers to this as an anti-littering law. One critic dourly remarked it would take the refuse off the streets and replace it with lines of welfare clients.

United Steelworkers of America (AFL- CIO) president I. W. (Abe) Abel, whose 1.4 million- member union encompasses the can workers, is a responsible labor leader. It is he, inside labor, who developed the no- strike steel industry Experimental Negotiating Agreement. Therefore, his word can be taken as gospel when he predicts that in the container industry alone passage of Hatfield's bill would kill up to 58,000 jobs. Then there is the glass bottle field, the brewing and trucking and retail businesses which would be affected. That's a heavy price to pay for litter removal.

Cleanliness may be close to Godliness but the Testaments have much to say about bread. All this and a sense of pragmatic realism appears to many of us to have escaped the environmentalists. They would launch an anti- littering educational campaign. They could go into the slum streets in squads. We could devote the monies which would be wasted on welfare and public assistance for the jobless to new housing.

Their dream has become a nightmare to many who just can't overcome household expenses. For example, Wall Street was earthquaked the other week when New York's massive utility, Consolidated Edison had to eliminate its [illegible] dividend. Corny as this sounds this skipped dividend hit widows and orphans and the institutional buyers. Not many speculators in the slow moving Con Ed stock.

The company action came after it ran short of cash after a long seige by environmentalists. This isn't the entire story. But it is much of the reason for the cracking of the stock's value.

Con Ed's efforts to build a nuclear plant have been frustrated by many "happenings" including the environmentalists' opposition. Also, the company was forced to import expensive petroleum when the environmentalists succeeded in preventing it from burning ordinary coal. Too much soot in the air. I was born in the gashouse district. Breathing it hasn't yet affected my appetite.

The increased cost forced a fantastic hike in bills. Con Ed could have saved over $100 million annually had it been permitted to burn coal at just two plants, I'm told. Customers refused to pay. Some wouldn't (bills in fully electrified homes began running over $250 monthly). Some, in the big ghettos, just couldn't.

So the utility reportedly ran $300 million behind in collections. It ran short of cash. To this minute, the environmentalists have been relentless though the loss to institutions and dependent persons counting on the regular dividends has been hurtful in pocket and heart.

Furthermore, a swift check across the country, much of which I have been visiting recently, reveals considerable construction trades unemployment. There are many reasons for this. One cause of the joblessness is the environmentalists' opposition to the building of petroleum refineries and nuclear plants. Greek millionaire Aristotle Onassis has had his agents roaming the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, from New Hampshire to New Orleans seeking a site for a big desperately needed refinery. So has the Shell Oil company. I know of at least six huge petroleum cracking installations which have been rebuffed by local environmentalists.

On the nuclear power plant front, for instance, the island "site" for building of the proposed floating plants will take a full year of dredging-- already delayed years. The operating engineers union reports heavy unemployment (some 30 per cent) in the West and thousands in the East (New Jersey and New England).

This is the moment for realism. Someone always can find trash baskets for discarded pop- top cans and throwaway bottles-- without killing an industry. As for coal soot-- it is easier to take for a while than an empty breadbasket.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
The Pennzoil Plan

WASHINGTON-- The Pennzoil company, whose president sent $700,000 to Washington in a company plane for the 1972 Nixon campaign, has slipped a natural gas bonanza through the federal bureaucracy with bewildering speed.

The unusual deal has been secretly criticized in Federal Power Commission documents as a potential "disaster," a "systematic corporate raid" and a probable violation of federal regulations.

It will tap millions from the pockets of housewives, small businessmen and others who depend on natural gas in the South, East and Midwest, the memos indicate. Yet, except for a gutsy FPC lawyer, few in government seem to care.

In simplest terms, Pennzoil is using a complicated stock scheme to spin off United Gas Pipe Line Corp., which services, directly or indirectly, much of the Eastern United States. Unless United is in sound financial condition, rates will go up and services will go down.

The Pennzoil plan is the pride and joy of its president, William Liedtke, who collected $700,000 in cash and negotiable securities from secret Nixon campaign contributors. He stuffed it all into a suitcase in Houston and had it flown under cover of night to Nixon headquarters in Washington.

But $700,000 is chicken feed compared to the figures involved in the Pennzoil natural gas deal. In fact, so important is it to the consumer, that the FPC's assistant general counsel, George Lewnes, suggests the commission quickly reverse the deal.

Already, Lewnes' many memos point out, the Securities and Exchange Commission has let the scheme go through with only a disclosure of its terms. Actually, the SEC was lucky to get even that in the face of Pennzoil's powerful legal assault team.

At the SEC, Pennzoil's case was handled by the prestigious Baker and Botts law firm. One of Baker and Botts' lawyers working on filings was Gordon Gooch, FPC's former general counsel. At the FPC, chances for action are also in question. One FPC commissioner, Rush Moody Jr., was personally championed for his job by Pennzoil's Liedtke.

Nevertheless, FPC lawyer Lewnes, in his memos to the commissioners, urges strong action to protect natural gas users:

"The spin- off of United appears to be one final step in a systematic corporate raid by Pennzoil of United's assets, which may result in detriment not only to United, but to its many consumers," he writes.

"It was the congressional intent...to prevent practices such as United and Pennzoil have incestuously utilized...." Even "standing alone," writes Lewnes, the spin- off "may be a...violation" of federal power regulations.

"Without doubt, after the spin- off is complete, United's financial position will be impaired," the veteran FPC assistant general counsel asserts. The result "could be disastrous."

What will happen, he predicts, is that if United does get financing high interest will drive its rates up. If it does not, there will "unquestionably (be) abandonment of some facilities and service...along the already beleaguered United system."

The memos then warn the commissioners that "becuase of this domino effect, the spin- off should be investigated" and at least temporarily frozen to prevent "a gigantic abandonment of an entire system by Pennzoil."

Footnote: Reached in Houston, Liedtke told us there is "absolutely no connection" between his help to Nixon and approval of the spin- off which he described as totally proper. "I'm shocked by your call," he said. Liedtke said he has not spoken with Commissioner Moody since he took office. Lewnes refused comment on the memos. Gooch told us FPC has no jurisdiction in the case.

INSIDE IMPEACHMENT: Vice President Gerald Ford has become involved behind the scenes in the politics of impeachment. Sources close to the House impeachment proceedings tell us that the Vice President's office has kept in close contact with Sam Garrison, the Republican staff man who was hired to obstruct President Nixon's impeachment.

Garrison has denied that he is obstructing the House Judiciary Committee's investigation. He has contended that we have confused obstruction with opposition.

But committee sources say he was hired for the principal purpose of delaying, harassing and obstructing the impeachment process. Committee sources also report that he has been in "repeated" contact with the Vice President's office.

The day after the Watergate tapes were sent to the committee, for example, Garrison reportedly passed information to the Vice President. Later in the day, Ford launched into an unexpected and bitter attack on Albert Jenner, the senior Republican counsel.

The Vice President, after information was slipped into his office from Garrison, grumped that "I don't like the attitude (Jenner) expressed when he was first appointed."

Reporters, surprised to hear the Vice President attack the Republican counsel, pressed for specifics. "Well," said Ford, "he made some comments, I have forgotten precisely what, shortly after he was picked by the Republicans-- I think mistakenly. He made some comments about impeachment...and in addition, as I understand it, donated $1,000 to Sen. Adlai Stevenson's campaign fund."

The timing and substance of Ford's remarks strongly suggest that Garrison may have put the words in the Vice President's mouth. But the Vice President, through a spokesman, denied any connection between his comments and Garrison. Ford said he had not spoken with Garrison "for three months or more" but acknowledged that his assistant Walter Mote is in touch with Garrison. The two worked together for some time on former Vice President Spiro Agnew's staff.

A committee spokesman told us that Garrison had not talked to the Vice President for months and that he had not violated the committee's rule against staff members discussing the impeachment with outsiders.

May 23 hearing set for Puxico resident

BLOOMFIELD — A preliminary hearing on May 23 was set Thursday in Magistrate Court for Connie L. Parris of Puxico, who faces charges of possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana and an apparatus for smoking marijuana.

Mike Becker of Bernie, charged with stealing a billfold containing about $300, was bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing. Witnesses called were Glendall Shoemake of Bernie, Bernie Police officer Gerald Grubbs and Stoddard County Deputy Sheriff Arthur Lee.

Larry White and Edward Boyd Redman, charged with driving while intoxicated, were each fined $100 and their driver's license were suspended.

William B. Gray was fined $10 on a charge of careless and imprudent driving. Scott Eugene Durbin pleaded guilty and paid a $10 fine on a charge of having stolen or borrowed license plates and a $15 fine for careless and imprudent driving by causing an accident.

Pleading guilty and paying fines for traffic violations were:

Robert Leon Smith, expired vehicle license, $10; John Wayne Riggins, speeding, $20; Ronnie Lee Jones, two counts of speeding, $25 and $15 respectively; Glen Edgar Moore, expired vehicle license, $10; Charles Albert Smith Jr., speeding, $15; Linda Faye Thacker, speeding $16; Deborah J. Beaker, no operator's license, $10; and Alice Faye Creg, permitting an unauthorized operator to drive, $10.

Cases continued to May 16 included Quincy Murphy, careless and imprudent driving; Juanita Norman, improper parking; Dale Edward Young, careless and imprudent driving; and Paul Arthur Dees, non-support.

Dallas Jean Weakley was released on his own recognizance on a charge of cashing a no funds check, and an insufficient funds check case against Peggy McClatchy was dismissed on payment of costs.

Calculator taken

Robert Matthews Jr. told police Thursday that an electric calculator had been taken from his office at Bank of Sikeston sometime between Saturday and Thursday.

The office was being remodeled at the time of the theft. Matthews said the calculator was valued at $140.

Minister to portray Paul

CHARLESTON— The Rev. Harold Davis, of Paris, Ontario, Canada, internationally known for his exciting portrayals of Biblical characters, will present the drama, "Bible Days Are Here Again," at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at First Assembly of God Church, 606 S. Main St.

The Rev. Mr. Davis will portray the Apostle Paul awaiting his death in a Roman prison. He is visited by Timotheous and a scribe, who asks Paul questions concerning the work of the church. The Rev. Mr. Davis, as Paul, will quote the complete book of Ephesians to provide them with instructions concerning God's will for their church. History is relived in a setting of candlelight and authentic costumes.

The Rev. Jim Young, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, said scriptures and memorable songs are woven together to present a beautiful mosaic.

Nursing students receive caps

Members of the 13th Sikeston Public School class of practical nurses were capped April 26 in ceremonies at First Christian Church. Caps were awarded to 36 practical nursing students who have completed six months of the one- year program.

Guest speaker Gary Smith of Jefferson City, state supervisor of manpower training, spoke on the meaning of the cap.

The practical nursing program is under the direction of W. F. Sikeston, director of manpower programs, and Gerald Jackson, director of vocational education, Sikeston Public Schools.

Agencies cooperating with the program include Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston, Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti and the Missouri Division of Employement Security.

Recognition day will honor firemen

Gov. Christopher Bond has proclaimed Saturday as Fire Service Recognition Day in Missouri.

In the proclamation, Bond urges all state residents to visit their fire stations and become acquainted with members of the fire department and the services they provide.

Sikeston Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said no formal open house is planned, but anyone who wants to visit the Sikeston fire houses is welcome.

Bond said "the fire service of our state, cities, towns and fire districts provide many public services in addition to the control, prevention and extinguishment of fires, inspections of commercial and industrial facilities, public buildings, places of assembly, hospitals, schools and convalescant homes.

"Today's firemen, both paid and volunteers, are trained technically and skilled in the profession of saving lives and property of their fellowmen," he said.

The owl hunts by night and strikes small mammals and birds without warning. Death is mercifully swift: strong talons and a sharp beak can crack a victim's back or snap its neck in an instant.

Cotton Boll Girl Scouts receive first class awards

DEXTER-- Yewell Lawrence, a Dexter businessman, will address the 1974 class of first class Girl Scouts at the annual recognition program in the Dexter High School auditorium Sunday at 3 p.m.

Lawrence, the father of a first class scout and also father of a member of the 1974 class, has chosen as his subject, "The Future, Women and You."

Scouting is a part of the Lawrence family life style, Mrs. Lawrence having served as a Girl Scout leader, plus the scouting activities of daughters Karen and Kelley and son Buddy, now a University of Missouri student, was an active Boy Scout.

Lawrence has served as a member of the Dexter school board for 10 years and as a past president of both the Southeast Missouri School Board Association and Dexter Chamber of Commerce. He presently is a member of the executive board of the American Feed Manufacturers Association and the Dexter Memorial Hospital board of directors.

In the business field, he is president of Monarch Feed Mills, Inc. of Dexter and Pocahontas, Ark., president of the Bank of Bloomfield-Essex, chairman of the board of Monaco Eggs, Inc. of Dexter and Lynn Grove, Ky., and has farming and real estate interests in Stoddard County.

Mrs. Thurston Hill of Dexter, president of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council will give the welcoming address, dedicate the class and confer the first class rank. An organ prelude will be presented by Mrs. Bob Coff of Dexter, and the invocation will be given by Michelle Sargent, first class scout of Sikeston Troop 22.

Bloomfield Senior Scout Troop 96 will present the colors, and Miss Karen Crain of Poplar Bluff, president of the Senior Planning Board, will close the program by giving an address of welcome to the Class of 1974.

Mrs. Utterback honored

NEW MADRID — Mrs. Madge Utterback, third grade teacher at Main Street Elementary School, who is retiring after 36 years in the teaching profession, was honored Tuesday night by the school faculty and staff at the annual school dinner.

Mrs. Utterback was presented a scroll of the "Teacher's Creed", an appropriately inscribed silver tray noting the occasion and an orchid corsage by Willie Tollison, school supervisor.

New book about Will Rogers

PORTAGEVILLE — New books at New Madrid County library include "Will Rogers, His Life and Times".

For much of the first third of this century, Will Rogers was not only America's pre- eminent humorist; he was the down-to- earth, horse- sense conscience of the nation.

Will Rogers, His Life and Times" is a fine evocation of a turbulent age as well as the moving story of an American who richly earned the honor and affection that he still receives from his fellow citizens.

Rogers' life (1879-1935) personified a great range of the American experience. Part Cherokee, he spent his boyhood in what was still Indian Territory, and his earliest ambition was to become the world's best trick roper.

Yet here you see how he also became the most popular and best- loved columnist, speaker, broadcaster and movie actor in the history of the United States — a friend of presidents, statesmen, politicians and prominent figures.

Women's Civic Club adjourns until fall

Miniature Maypoles on ivy branches and floral arrangements of early summer flowers from the garden of Mrs. Edna Young Husband and her sister- in-law, Mrs. Hemba Young, enhanced tables Tuesday for Sikeston Woman's Civic Club's potluck luncheon and card party.

The women met at 12:30 p.m. in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room for their last meeting of the season. The club will resume meeting in the fall.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Charles Conn, chairwoman, and Mrs. James Adams, Miss Kathryne Clark, Mrs. Mildred Canedy, Mrs. Robert Hope, Mrs. Gilbert Hopper, Mrs. Husband, Mrs. W. G. Funk and Mrs. L. M. Standley.

Four guests and 33 members attended. Guests were Mrs. Willard Sanders, Mrs. Gladys Stewart, Mrs. Lucille Flewelling and Mrs. Jack Willis.

Mrs. Roy Marks, president, conducted a brief business meeting, during which the club voted to donate $50 to the Child Development Center.

Miss Almaretta Sidwell, ways and means chairman, announced available dates for the semi- annual bus trip to Memphis, Tenn., and members chose Oct. 16 as the fall trip date.

The members were invited to extend a card shower to Mrs. Evelyn Sargent, a club member who is a patient in Methodist Hospital at Memphis.

Mrs. Funk suggested that the Civic Club honor the late Mrs. Betty LaLumandier for her assistance in past club projects by a tree memorial to be planted at the discretion of the Sikeston Park Board.

Winners in afternoon card playing included: bridge-- Ethyl Tanner, Vivian Potashnick, Jo Aufdenberg, Lois Murback and Bea Stauffer; canasta-- Margaret Cain; and pinochle-- Pauline Goolsby.

Parents are constantly teaching their children

By SHAREN K. HUNT

BENTON — You teach others constantly, whether you know it or not. Gail Imig, family life specialist at Michigan State University in Lansing, Mich., thinks being aware of this aspect of guidance is the one often misused.

Is your child happy, lively and a joy to be with -- or is he irritable and fearful? Part of the credit for whichever disposition your child has goes to you.

Over 50 per cent of a child's intellectual development takes place during preschool years when parents are his primary source of influence.

Take the case of the little boy who slammed the door each time he came inside: Each time the door slammed, his mother yelled at him. And he kept right on slamming the door. What does this have to do with teaching children? The mother unknowingly was teaching the child that all he had to do to get her attention was do something aggravating. She responded every time.

What can you do about cases like this? Keep in mind that children repeat behavior that makes them feel good. When a child learns that certain behaviors have certain good consequences or results, he'll repeat them over and over.

In our example, the little boy felt good whenever his mother responded to his door slamming. He liked her attention, so he kept repeating the action that got it, even if mother seemed displeased with his methods. Displeasure was better for him than being treated with indifference.

Just as getting the desired effect strengthens behavior, not getting the result weakens it. This is a powerful tool in helping children learn. Our little boy probably would have given up his door slamming, if his mother hadn't yelled in response. He would have found some other -- perhaps more suitable -- way of getting her attention.

Using this tool of ignoring displeasing behavior means that parents must learn to control their own response to the child's behavior. It's not always possible to control your responses completely, but the more you can train yourself to do this, the more effective you'll be in guiding your child's behavior.

It also means that if you don't reward behavior that you don't want, then you must reward behavior that you do want. Ignoring the child completely is not the answer. He must get some attention.

Controlling your reactions is just one part of guiding your child's behavior. Being consistent in your reaction goes one step further in effectiveness. Your consistence makes your child's life stable.

Children should have awareness of death, know about funerals

Dear Ann Landers: My sister who was only 38 died of cancer. In addition to the grief, we experienced another problem, and this is what I am writing about. It is too late to undo the damage, but I hope this letter will help others who may one day face a similar situation.

My sister had three children; the youngest was five. Her husband refused to allow the five- year- old to attend the funeral. (Open casket, but the restoration job was remarkably good.) Only the two older children, 10 and 12, were permitted to attend the funeral.

The five- year- old became upset. She asked a great many questions which were not answered properly. The child felt she was being denied a last chance to see her mother. Now she is very angry with her father who made the decision.

Will you please give us your views? Do you believe the child would have experienced recurring nightmares (her father's basis for refusal) and that he did the right thing by protecting her from the trauma? Thank you for your answer, whatever it is.-- Garden City

Dear G.C.: Even at the age of five, a child has an awareness of death. When he finds lifeless birds on the sidewalk, or his fish or his cat or dog dies, he knows that life is over for that creature and he will have to be "put away someplace."

According to Jules Furth, a Chicago funeral director and my principal consultant in these matters, children should not be denied the experience of attending the funeral of a close relative. Leaving out the youngster could lead him to believe he was not as important to his mother as the children who were permitted to attend.

If, on the other hand, the child does NOT want to attend, he shouldn't be encouraged to do so. The decision should be up to him.

Dear Ann Landers: For several years, I was married to a man who insisted on having affairs with his students. He was deceitful, exploitive and an accomplished liar. When he made my life intolerable, I divorced him. But he did NOT snore.

Now I have found a man who is considerate, generous, talented and completely charming. He helps me with the cooking and marketing. We are not only wonderful lovers, but good friends. He, however, DOES snore.

I took the advice you gave someone who wrote in several months ago and invested $1.25 in earplugs. Although they do not block out the snoring completely, they help some.

The point of this letter is to tell you that a good night's sleep depends more on how you feel about the person than whether or not there is noise in the room.-- Morpheus's Mate

Dear Mate: Of course you are right. In fact, some women claim they enjoy the sound of their husband's snoring. (At least they know where he is.)

Dear Ann Landers: A while back you printed a heartbreaking letter from grandparents who were cut off completely from their only grandchild because the boy's mother (their son's ex- wife) wanted to be punitive. I hope they live in Texas. The law is now on their side. The new Family Code, Senate Bill 168, Section 14.03, Clause D, provides grandparents with legal visiting rights.--- Good For Us

Dear Good: Thank you for letting me know. I happily pass the word and hope that the example of the Texas legislature will be followed by all the other 49.

The perfect beginning and ending for Mother's Day

Why not surprise Mom this Mother's Day morning with Good Morning Bread for breakfast and a light wheat germ and apple dessert after supper to end "her day"?

The recipes are simple to follow, and the bread can be made up Saturday night so there won't be any pots or pans rattling around Sunday morning while the kids are fixing Mom's breakfast.

Quick breads are always popular. There are brunch breads, coffee cakes, breads for dinner and others for dessert. Here is a breakfast bread, featuring corn flakes and Florida orange juice. Include sliced Good Morning Bread along with other favorite foods making a nutritious morning meal.

GOOD MORNING BREAD

1 1/2 cups corn flakes
2 cups regular all- purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup regular margarine or butter, softened
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup Florida orange juice
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1/2 cup seedless raisins

Measure corn flakes; crush to 3/4 cup. Set aside.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside.

Place margarine and sugar in large mixing bowl; beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs and orange rind; beat well. Stir in orange juice, mixing until well blended. Add flour mixture, stirring only until combined. Stir in corn flakes, nuts and raisins. Spread in well greased 9 x 5 x 3- inch loaf pan.

Bake in moderate over (350 degrees) about one hour or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool about 10 minutes before removing from pan. Place on wire rack; cool completely before slicing.

Yield: One loaf.

Note: For a crowd, double the recipe and spread batter in a greased and floured 10- inch tube pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour and 20 minutes, or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean.

This wheat germ and apple dessert can be a last minute inspiration. A great idea to have on hand when you need a hearty dessert to finish off your dinner menu. Putting it together takes no longer than tossing a salad and it can be baking while you're eating the main course. The pudding is delicious hot or cold and only takes about half an hour oven time. A puff of whipped cream or ice cream on top adds to its goodness. If there's any left over, it would make a tasty midnight snack.

WHEAT GERM AND APPLE DESSERT

1/2 cup regular wheat germ
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg
3/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups chopped pared apple
Whipped cream

Mix wheat germ, flour, baking powder, cinnamon, salt and nutmeg.

Beat egg until light and fluffy. Beat in sugar. Combine with dry ingredients and apples.

Spread in buttered 8- inch pan.

Bake in 350- degree oven 30 to 35 minutes or until crusty on top and pick inserted in center comes out clean.

Serve warm or cooled with whipped cream.

Good Morning Bread

Wheat Germ Dessert

SHS wins 9th straight

It was a miserable afternoon with a cold, wet uncomfortable rain falling but Mitch Walker hit and pitched the Sikeston Bulldogs to a 10- 2 win over Charleston at V. F. W. Stadium Thursday afternoon. Except for an inning or relief a week ago, it was the first real pitching action for Walker since the doubleheader at West Plains in mid- April. But, the senior righthander showed good control, despite going to numerous three- ball counts, and walked just one while fanning seven. The Jays did reach him for nine hits, but most of them should have been caught and would have been caught except for the fact that the regulars were sitting on the bench. At the game's end, Walker, centerfielder Greg Colwick and shortstop Kenny Stokes were the only normal starters on the field and the latter two were out of their normal positions as Coach N. P. McDaniel emptied his bench, playing all 17 players on the bench.

Not only did Walker pitch the distance for his fifth win, but the smallish hurler ripped out three hits. That feat raised his average to .378.

Normally a pitcher, Rich Blankenship, played the outfield and infield and slapped out two safeties. Lance Hesselrode, Rick Love and Blankenship each drove home two runs. Kenny Stokes, Bruce Lawrence and Blankenship each scored twice.

Sikeston scored three times in the second off the Jay starter, Junior Delay. And, then they added four to that total in the bottom of the fourth as a steady rain fell. However, the downpour stopped and stalling tactics by Delay and his teammates proved futile and probably cost them a couple runs as the Charleston righthander lost his rhythm and was forced to leave the game.

The only runs off Walker came in the fifth. At that time he was sailing along with a two- hitter, but the first three reached- two on errors-- and Butch Smoot socked a one- out single to score the runs.

The last three by Sikeston came off reliever Quatermous in the fifth as wildness and errors hurt the visiting hurler. He did come back in the sixth and set Sikeston down in order-- the only time it happened all day.

The win was the ninth in a row for Sikeston, who host the regional tournament beginning a week from Friday. Before that, however, they meet one of the three others involved in that tournament when they take on Fox of Arnold this Saturday. The Bulldogs will take a 15- 3 record into that contest.

Celtics are back

Now, with Coach Tommy Heinsohn calling the shots and Dave Cowens at Russell's old center position, the Celtics are back—just one victory from being all the way back.

With a 3-2 lead over the Milwaukee Bucks, the Celtics seek their first National Basketball Association championship since 1969 and their 12th in history tonight in the sixth game of the best-of-seven series at Boston Garden.

"We're going to win it," Heinsohn said confidently. "On any given night either team can win, but we've beaten them twice on their court and now we're back in Boston."

"We've put a lot of pressure on ourselves, but it's not over yet," countered Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello. "We had the same pressure here (fourth game) last Sunday and we won. However, we've got our work cut out."

There's a great difference in the Celtics' style from the Russell era. With Russell revolutionizing the game with his defensive genius, the Celtics won 11 NBA titles in 13 years on the shooting of such greats as Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman, Sam Jones and Heinsohn.

Now, as Cowens says, "this is a different ball game." The Celtics have shocked the mighty Bucks with a press all over the court. Don Chaney and Jo Jo White, the regular backcourt partners, lead the harrassment which has slowed Milwaukee in all but one of the first five games.

"We've never pressed like this, it's phenomenal," Cowens said. "During the regular season we play a bother press, but this is a different ball game now."

Rams inch closer

The Rams were the runnerup to the state championship last season.

The Rams rallied for three of their runs after two were out. In the bottom of the third frame Ralph Heissier drew a walk, stole second and came home on Danny Gentry's single. Mike Shaffer singled to drive in Gentry and the Rams led 2-0.

In the third inning Steve Hanschan drove in a run after an error had opened the gate. The Rams final run was score in the fifth after two were out Gentry doubled and Schaffer singled to score the run.

IS-C is the District 10 champion and host the Hayti Indians, the District 12 champion Friday afternoon in the regional tournament.

Hayti repeats

HAYTI — Coach Jerry Cecil's HHS Indians made their second entry into the state baseball playoffs by downing the North Pemiscot Mustangs 7-0 Thursday afternoon.

The Indians won their district last season before being defeated at Van Buren.

Bobby Alexander was more than the Mustangs could handle as the fireballer limited NPHS to only two hits in the game. The first hit didn't come for the Mustangs until two were retired in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Jerry Stewart pitched four innings before being relieved by Joe Jennings and took the loss as the Indians plated six runs in the top of the third inning.

Robert fans 14

Oran remained undefeated in the Southeast Missouri Softball League Wednesday night with a 6-1 victory over the New Hamburg Blues.

Donnie Robert turned in a three hit pitching performance for the win, fanning 14 Blues batters through the seven inning contest.

Don Metz and Henry Dirnberger paced a nine hit Oran offensive attack with three and two hits respectively. Metz connected for a two run home while Bill Glasstetter slammed one for the Blues.

Robert won Oran's opening game, connecting for a double in the last of the seventh to drive home the games only run against the Cape Girardeau Jets.

NBA players 'outraged'

NEW YORK (AP) — National Basketball Association players involved have expressed "outrage" over an arbitrator's decision against permitting them to participate in a scheduled all-star game against the American Basketball Association, says Larry Fleisher executive director of the NBA Players Association.

"All of the players involved are shocked by the callous approach by owners in attempting to stop the game for whatever personal or presumed business reasons they have," Fleisher said Thursday after arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled that participation by NBA players would be in violation of their contracts.

League Commission Walter Kennedy also announced that Seitz had found that by organizing and planning the game, scheduled for May 18 in Providence, R. I., the NBA Players Association had violated its collective bargaining agreement with the league.

Fleisher said after the ruling he had called player representatives and players who in turn had made appeals to club owners and to the league, to no avail.

"The players expressed surprise that owners would attempt to deprive 15 to 20 million fans from watching the game on TV, second, prevent Providence fans from watching the game, and, most importantly, deprive the beneficiaries of the charities involved from the benefits the game would provide.

Sutton holds Padres to 1-hit

The difference between a ONE-hitter and a NO-hitter is a lot more than the letter E.

With one out in the second inning, John Grubb bounced a ground ball up the middle that just tipped off the glove of Los Angeles shortstop Bill Russell for a single.

It wasn't a big hit. But to Don Sutton, it must have seemed like a 600-foot home run.

"I really wanted to pitch a no-hitter," said Sutton, who pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Thursday night. "But I can't complain about the hit Grubb got tonight. I threw him a change-up and he did what a good hitter should do—he hit it up the middle."

Elsewhere in the major leagues, the Kansas City Royals downed the Texas Rangers 6-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 4-1; the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1, and the Boston Red Sox blanked the New York Yankees 2-0.

Sutton, who owns two other on-hit efforts, struck out five and walked two.

Royals 6,
Rangers 1

Marty Pattin retired 19 straight batters after Dave Nelson's leadoff bunt single in the first and went on to record his first victory as a Royal with a four-hitter.

The loss dropped Texas .003 percentage points behind Chicago and into a tie for second with California.

Pirates 4, A
tros 1

Jim Rooker's hitting got in the way of his pitching Thursday night. He doubled in the eighth inning and scored on Rennie Stennett's single to finish the Pirates' scoring and bring his record to 2-2. Rooker, who struck out four and walked four before Dave Giusti came on to face the Astros in the bottom of the eighth, said, "I got tired after doing all that running in the eighth inning."

Cubs 3, Braves 1

Rick Reuschel pitched a fourhitter.

Until the seventh, the game's only run was set up by home run king Hank Aaron's first stolen base of the season.

Aaron, who had a season-high of 31 bases in 1963, totaled only six in the past three years.

Lockman said he wouldn't have been embarrassed if the final score were 1-0, "but I'd have been damned angry. Sure I know he's 40 but he's still a great ballplayer."

Red Sox 2, Yankees 0

Baccalaureate services set at 7 R-1 schools

HOWARDVILLE — Baccalaureate services are scheduled on May 19 at four New Madrid County R-1 Enlarged School District high schools. Commencement exercises at each of the five district high schools will be during the following week.

The May 19 baccalaureate services will begin at 1:30 p.m. at Lilbourn High School; 3:30 p.m. at Portageville High School; 5:15 p.m. at Parma High School and 8 p.m. at Matthews High School.

The Rev. Don Jordan, pastor of the Church of God, will be guest speaker at the Lilbourn baccalaureate service. Commencement exercises will begin at 8 p.m. on May 23.

The Rev. Wayne Stout, pastor of the Church of God, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at Portageville. Dr. Arvil Van Adams, a 1961 Portageville High School graduate, is guest speaker for commencement exercises at 8 p.m. on May 21. Dr. Adams is assistant professor of economics and research associate at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio.

The Rev. Clem Birkmeyer, pastor of the Parma and Lilbourn United Methodist Churches, will speak at the Parma High School baccalaurette service.

Dr. W. Thomas Robinson, a former principal at Parma, and presently superintendent of Pemiscot County Special School District at Braggadocio, will deliver the commencement address at 8 p.m. on May 20.

The Rev. Don Schmidt, pastor of First Christian Church, will be guest speaker for the Matthews High School baccalaureate service.

Guest speaker for the Matthews commencement program at 8 p.m. on May 22 will be Dr. Bryce Marsh, department chairman of vocational- technical education at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Commencement exercises at New Madrid High School are set for 8 p.m. on May 24. Dr. Russell Jones, professor of history at Westminister College in Fulton will be guest speaker. Dr. Jones is a New Madrid High School graduate and is a son of Mrs. Helen Loud Jones of Sikeston.

Career Exploring offers job situation experience

By BARB MAYFIELD

Teenagers and adults throughout the Sikeston area have recently been involved in the new Career Exploring movement sweeping across the country.

Career Exploring offers today's youth the opportunity to experience various job situations in an effort to decide the direction of their future careers. Teens can explore their different job interests and discover whether they really want to enter such fields as lifetime careers.

Other than the district chairman and several post advisors, Career Exploring is run solely by the youth of America. Teens hold the various national, state, district, and post offices.

An Exploring post is a group of teenagers interested in a common job area; not necessarily the same job in particular, but the same field.

For instance, an education post would be involved with all aspects of education, such as administration, teaching, counseling, coaching, etc.

A member of an education post might have entered the group with interests only in becoming a professional teacher, but may discover through the posts efforts that they would be happier and more satisfied in the administration branch of education.

With this discovery, the youth can then direct his remaining course of study toward education administration, rather than studying to be a teacher, securing a teaching position and then discovering he has entered the wrong area of education for himself, personally.

Career Exploring also helps teens develop leadership and responsibility and gives them a chance to enter the adult work world and discover just what it is really like to be a member of the working class, on a full- time scale.

The organization also offers float trips, road rallies, swimming parties and other recreation for members to meet new people and exchange ideas.

Anyone interested in joining Career Exploring should attend the Career Exploring meeting May 14 at 7 p.m. in the high school cafetorium, or contact Mike Kilgore, district chairman.

Debbie Launius

Sikeston girl on dean's list

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Miss Debbie Launius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lee Launius of 708 Pine St., Sikeston, Mo., has been named to the dean's list for the winter quarter at Trevecca Nazarene College at Nashville.

Ex-Sikeston man learns new measure for success

By PAT GROJEAN

When Larry Bell returned to Sikeston a couple of years ago, it was not exactly in the way he had formerly dreamed. When Bell, who now heads a gospel singing trio, The New Creation, left Sikeston in 1951, he made up his mind to return someday as a successful and financially secure man.

This was his dream because he had had to work so hard at a variety of jobs when he was a child.

When Bell did return to Sikeston, he returned in a bus with his own gospel singing trio but with little monetary success.

However, Bell is happy with his present life of traveling around the country singing and giving testimony for the Lord. He has been traveling about two and a half years since giving up ownership of a small weekly newspaper and commercial printing business in Spokane, Wash., to do what he felt the Lord was calling him to do.

Bell still has relatives around the Sikeston area. His grandfather, W. T. Bell, lives in Sikeston as does an uncle and a cousin. Two other uncles live in towns nearby.

The New Creation will perform at First General Baptist Church in Dexter at 7:30 each night through Sunday.

Other engagements in this area include Eastside Church of the Nazarene in Sikeston at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Temple of Faith General Baptist Church in Sikeston at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, the Church of God in Dexter at 7:30 p.m. next Friday and White Oak Gorve General Baptist Church in Bernie at 10 a.m. May 19.

The gospel singing group was organized in 1970 in Spokane, where Bell still maintains a home base. For the first two years the group sang on weekends and became more popular as time passed.

Bell said he had always had a little dream to be in gospel music, but when he started the group he didn't really have the dedication. "After a year I found it wasn't as glamorous as I had expected," he said.

He explained that just as the group was about to break up, they felt God talking to them at their last service, and he was called to give his testimony and commit himself before 800 people for whom they had just performed. Six months later, Bell said God opened the door for them to become full- time gospel singers, providing an opportunity and requests for them to spread their type of gospel.

The group has recorded two albums, "Something Worth Living For", released about two and a half years ago, and "We've Come This Far by Faith", which has been recorded but not yet released.

"We are one of the few full- time groups in our area," Bell said. He explained that most gospel groups have a full- time evangelist, as well as a singing ensemble. Bell said The New Creation has no formal evangelist, but the group members relate their own personal testimonies and encounters, in addition to singing.

The New Creation performs a conservative type of religious music, which Bell likens to that performed by the Bill Gaither trio. "It is not loud music," Bell said, "and almost every song has a message." He added that the group does not have the inclination to be entertainers, but simply tries to put across a message about God with their songs.

"We go strictly on faith," Bell said, explaining that at each of their performances a special offering is taken, and they get no guaranteed amount. He and the other two members of the group, his wife Beverly and sister-in- law, Barbara Prohaska, trust God to provide for their needs..." and so far he has," Bell added.

One purpose of the group is to show people that just an ordinary person, with no special educational degree or talent can make a large contribution to others and to the world. He said they hope to defeat the theory that you have to keep up with— and even ahead— of the Joneses.

"We hope to provide encouragement because we are simple nobodies that the Lord has found a place for," Bell said.

Being a gospel singer is not really an easy life, Bell said. "We never know whether we will get enough money to get gas to go to the next place," Bell said, then added, "But we've never been stopped yet."

Although traveling across the country singing religious music is not as financially rewarding as the newspaper business Bell sold, he said he now has many rewards that money can't buy. "We feel like we're contributing something," he added.

They have sung in churches of just about every denomination and, in the four years they have been performing have driven about half a million miles without having an accident. "It's just almost a miracle," Bell said.

Bell has been invited to be a youth minister and bus pastor several different times. Each time though, he said he has asked the Lord if this is what he wants him to do, and each time "he's made it clear that he wants us to keep traveling." When he finally does stop traveling and singing, he says he would like to get involved with youth and have a religious printing shop.

Bell feels freer today, and not owned by a lot of things. "Assets are measured in a different way," he said.

"If someone had told me 25 years ago that I'd be back here as a gospel singer, I'd have thought they were nuts," Bell said in concluding an interview on his thoughts about his life and Sikeston.

Gospel singers visit

1st Assembly to have pulpit guest Sunday

The Rev. Loren Wooten of Springfield will speak in the morning and evening services Sunday at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway.

In the morning worship service at 10:30, all mothers will be honored. Recognition will be given to the oldest and youngest mothers who attend regularly and to the mother with the most relatives attending.

The evening service will begin at 7 p.m.

FUGIO CENT WAS FIRST U.S. COIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first coin authorized by the United States Congress was the 1787 Fugio cent. The Latin inscription Fugio, in conjunction with a sundial, supposedly was to signify "time flies." The coin also bore the terse, strictly American admonition: "Mind your business."

THE GOSPEL CONFRONTS CULTURE

The gospel has the power to challenge the evil structures of society and to bring about radical changes in our sense of values and stewardship.

Paul found it necessary to learn all he could about the culture of the people he visited and attempted to convert to Christianity.

For some eighteen months Paul preached in Corinth. There he practiced his craft of tentmaking while he preached regularly in the synagogue. Then he resumed his journey, visiting many communities.

The Jews continued to hear Paul's plea to them that the Messiah was Jesus. Some believed while others refused this new philosophy. When groups refused to accept his words, Paul left to hold discussions elsewhere.

Changes, of course, can be costly. Yet the preaching of the gospel should bring constructive and social changes in society. These changes, unfortunately, are not always evident from the start.

In today's message we learn about some Jewish exorcists who attempted to draw out demons in the name of Jesus and Paul. They were unsuccessful since they themselves had not accepted Jesus.

The success of Paul's work prompted many persons to openly confess their former belief in charms, spells and witchcraft. Ephesus was a community famous for its magical writings. No doubt books were widely sold revealing these secret beliefs

However, when Paul spoke to them the people brought so many books to be burned that their value was placed at fifty thousand pieces of silver.

Any such action can disturb the economy of a nation. So it was that Demetrius, a famous silversmith who employed many persons to make idols for worship, learned about the book burning incident and warned his people about the economic disaster that they would suffer should such teachings continue unabbated.

We witness then another incident in which Christianity challenged the prevailing pagan business practices of Paul's day. When the crowds threatened Paul they were held back until a local official calmed them down.

Few persons today worship silver gods or idols. Unfortunately, many have other gods, such as drugs, alcohol, status, etc. There are still more gods created by merchants to attract youths.

Behind such gods are emotional drives. Demetrius drove his followers by emotional threats to their economic future. When a person's economic status is threatened, he is likely to respond to emotional claims from others. In this instance, Paul's traveling companions were arrested in an excited atmosphere.

We have witnessed this in America in recent years. The government, in an attempt that failed, sought to curb cigarette smoking by banning ads on the air. Companies also had to place warning notices on each pack sold, yet cigarette sales continued to climb.

For years we have argued over gun controls. Vested interests lobby to gain their goals over the opposition to such laws.

Temperance lessons should turn more and more on Christian love and understanding, less and less on enforced governmental regulations.

In Paul's day the Christian message sought to convert persons from the worship of idols to belief in the words of Jesus. Today's ministers face a similar challenge. However, they must attack more gods who are fighting for our time, money, and devotion.

Although the times are different the solution to society's ills and addictions remain in our willingness to place full faith in God.

Class receives first communion

Work begins on church expansion, remodeling

PORTAGEVILLE — The Assembly of God Church in Portageville has announced that work began Monday on an expansion and remodeling project for the church. A 55 per cent growth last year and the expanding ministry of the church were cited as factors in undertaking the project.

The present building is being enlarged to include more classrooms, a new nursery, new restrooms and a balcony to add much needed seating.

The sanctuary is being completely remodeled and the exterior of the church is being bricked. An annex is to be added to the front of the present building.

Harper and Bollinger Construction Co. of Kennett is doing the work which is slated for completion by June 16 which will be the Church's annual Homecoming Day.

The pastor is the Rev. Mike Jackson.

Settlement reached in church dispute

ESSEX — A settlement has been reached in a Circuit Court case involving a dispute between two church groups over the use of the name Cline's Island General Baptist Church.

Under the terms of the agreement, the defendants in the case have agreed to discontinue use of the name, Original Cline's Island General Baptist Church, and will be known in the future as the Castor River General Baptist Church. The church is located on Route N a short distance north of Route AB on Essex Route Two, and the pastor is the Rev. Henry Smith.

Cline's Island General Baptist Church, also on Essex Route Two, is located on Route AB approximately one-half mile east of the Castor River, and the pastor is the Rev. Ronnie Ledbetter.

Vacation Bible School faculty is announced

RISCO— The Pleasant View General Baptist Church Vacation Bible School faculty and workers have been announced.

Don Joyce and the Rev. Vernon Self, adult teachers; Mrs. Nevel Ornder, teen moderator, assisted by Beverly Meadows, Paula Coffer, Janet Keaster, Billie Gail Warth and Lisa Pettigrew; Iris McCord and Susie Perrigan, junior teachers; Deema Pettigrew and Joyce Joyce. Primary teachers, and Darlene Edwards and Thelma Bailey, nursery workers.

Bible study sessions will be held Monday through Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. May 13- 24. Classes are planned for every age group.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

134. Saul Summons David

Shortly after Samuel had anointed David, Saul was troubled by an evil spirit. Some of Saul's aides suggested that they find an accomplished musician to play the harp to soothe the king during his moments of torment and depression.

One of the king's servants suggested that David, the son of Jesse, be summoned, for he was not only a talented harp player, but also was a handsome, brave, strong young man with good, sound judgment. "And David came to Saul, and stood before him: and he loved him greatly; and he became his armourbearer." (I Samuel 16:21)

Then Saul, who admired and loved David from the instant he saw him, asked Jesse to allow David to join his staff. "And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took a harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him." (I Samuel 16:23)

Today in U.S. History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1871, the Treaty of Frankfurt ended the Franco-Prussian War. AlsaceLorraine was ceded to Germany.

On this date—

In 1775, Ethan Allen and a company of Vermont militiamen —the Green Mountain Boys—captured Fort Ticonderoga, N.Y., from the British.

In 1941, the Nazi leader, Rudolf Hess, landed by parachute in Scotland in a private effort to make peace.

One year ago: Former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans were indicted by a federal grand jury in New York on conspiracy charges.

Thought for today: Humility is the solid foundation of all the virtues — Confucius, Chinese philosopher, 551-479 B.C.

Mother's Day is busiest of year for long distance

Mother will be the most popular woman in the country Sunday, but Long Distance phone calls to her may run into some delays during the evening rush, according to Southwestern Bell mamager Mike Smith.

"Mother's Day has always been the busiest Long Distance calling day of the year," he said. "Chances of getting calls through promptly are better during the day. Also, it's more economical to call before 5 p.m. when the higher evening rates begin."

Smith said 38 operators will be on duty locally Sunday to handle calls. Last year, Sikeston operators handled 4,401 calls, while 49,125 customers dialed their Long Distance calls directly.

"Statewide, we expect Sunday's callers to place about 482,000 calls," he said. "That's about 22,000 more than were placed last Christmas."

Smith said that callers could save money and would stand a better chance of getting their calls through quickly by dialing their calls directly the One-Plus way, without going through the operator. The manager also said that callers should avoid the heaviest calling rush, usually between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

May 12 begins Healty Baby Week

Mother's Day, this Sunday, marks the beginning of Healthy Baby Week, according to Mrs. Sandy Kilgore of Sikeston Junior Women's Club. "The club's goal this week is to inform every expectant mother about prenatal care in Sikeston," she said.

"We are delighted to participate with The National Foundation - March of Dimes in this annual drive," added Mrs. Kilgore.

Frequent care from a physician or clinic throughout pregnancy is imperative for the protection of mother and baby, she notes.

Every mother wants her baby to be born healthy and whole; and that is why Sikeston Junior Women's Club is sponsoring a March of Dimes Road Block on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Kingsway Plaza Mall Intersection and the Shoe Factory Intersection.

The money collected at these road blocks will go for the purchase of pediatric equipment for Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Watch what happens...

Your family, like most, is experiencing a little pinch with the high cost of living. Your idea has been to round up a number of items around the house that you no longer need, but which you know would be valuable and useful to someone else.

And your idea now is to call the Classified Department and place an ad offering these items for sale.

Now . . . watch what happens!

In a day's time you'll begin receiving phone calls from people interested in buying the things you no longer need. And before you know it, you'll have that little extra cash in your hand we can all use.

That's exactly how it happens to lots and lots of homemakers . . . every day!

The ice cream sundae, one of today's most popular ice cream desserts, was born in Evanston, Illinois because of a strange law. When a law was passed forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday, local merchants got around it by serving ice cream with just syrup. The "sodaless soda" came to be known as a "Sunday" but then objections arose naming a dessert after the Lord's Day, so it became known as a sundae, but it, like the soda, was not banned.

Something that homemakers like more than an ice cream sundae, a Miracle Water Refiner, was born not because of any law, but to create clean, refreshing sparkling water throughout your home. The Miracle Water Refiner not only softens, it cleans, removes taste and odor such as chlorine and it filters your water as well. Once you see and enjoy the difference, you will never want to go back to ordinary tap water. Your cooked foods will taste better, your floors and walls will sparkle, your laundry will smell fresher, be softer and cleaner. Call Braswell and find out more about this modern wonder today.

Moore files motion for suit dismissal

BENTON — Scott County Pros. Atty. Jim Moore announced during Thursday's County Court session that he has filed a motion for dismissal of a $15,165 damage suit against the county judges and Regan Harris, the county highway engineer.

The suit was filed in April by Hedrick Concrete Products Co. of Sikeston for damages one of its trucks received in a fall through a bridge last October near New Hamburg.

Moore said he filed the motion in Circuit Court Wednesday on grounds the petition failed to state a proper cause of action upon which relief could be granted and also alleging that any such action was barred by the doctrine of sovereign immunity. Moore said there are Missouri cases which state the county is free from suits in negligence actions.

The suit states that on Oct. 19, 1973, Albert Middleton, an employe of the Hedrick firm, was driving a conceret mixer truck across a steel frame bridge with wooden bottom over Caney Creek, located three miles south of New Hamburg on the Oran- New Hamburg Road (Highway 77), when the bridge collapsed, resulting in extensive damage to the truck as a direct result of the carelessness and negligence of the County Court.

The suit alleges that it is the obligation of the county judges to maintain safe roads and bridges within Scott County and that the judges, although often warned of the dangers and hazards of the bridge, failed and refused to take any action to make it safe for the traveling public.

It also states that Harris has failed to inspect the bridge and perform the duties of the highway engineer, that he failed to make reports on the bridge that it should be repaired, failed to make or designate it as a low load limit bridge and failed to install a sign advising the motoring public of the weight capacity of the bridge.

The court announced that it has accepted a bid of $4,354 from Handy Moore of Sikeston for 14 acres of land in the northwest section of the county's sanitary landfill one mile north of Morley.

Other bids were submitted by Tony Heckemeyer of Sikeston for $4,270 and J. Bledsoe of Sikeston for $1,976.

Presiding Judge Les Lankford said the county is unable to use this land because of its location on the slope of a hill with water running the wrong direction. "This watershed would hurt farm crops in the surrounding areas (if the land was used for a landfill)," he said.

Missing woman being sought

CHAFFEE — Sylvia L. Toehill, 62, of Chaffee Route One has been reported missing, according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Mrs. Toehill was reported missing Thursday by neighbors who said they had not seen her at home all week and stated that she has a heart condition.

She was last seen at approximately 12:30 a.m. Saturday leaving Big E Tavern in Chaffee.

Mrs. Toehill is 5 feet 5 inches tall weighs 135 pounds and has blue eyes and gray hair.

Anyone with information about Mrs. Toehill is asked to contact the sheriff's department or Chaffee police.

Curtis reported in fair condition

Lindol Curtis, accused of slaying his former wife and her mother Tuesday night, was listed in fair condition in Kennedy Veterans Hospital this morning in Memphis, Tenn.

He was incorrectly reported Thursday as being a patient at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis. Curtis is recovering from an overdose of drugs taken after the shooting.

Taylor fined

CHARLESTON — Donald Taylor of Sikeston, arrested Thursday on charges of disturbing the peace and destroying private and public property, was fined $28 this morning in City Court.

Honors reception time correction

The Sikeston High School honors reception will begin at 7 p.m. Monday in the high school cafetorium, not 7:30 p.m., as previously announced, according to principal Roger Sherman.

The reception honors students in the top 10 per cent of grades 10-12 and their parents.

John Moll, vice president of wholesale food distribution for Malone & Hyde Inc. in Nashville, Tenn., and a Sikeston High School graduate will be the guest speaker.

Area students will graduate from TRCC

POPLAR BLUFF- Two students from Scott County will receive degrees and certificates during the sixth annual commencement exercises at Three Rivers Community College. The graduation ceremonies will be held at 8 p.m. today in First Baptist Church.

Garron Hanley of Oran will receive an associate in applied science degree, and Benjamin Schmitt of Chaffee will be awarded a certificate of occupations by the college.

7 treated

Tillie Ringo, 51, Evansville, Ind., cut lower lip and bruised right knee in car accident; Pauline Behers, 51, Tucson, Ariz., bruised left hip, knee and shoulder in car accident; and Isabella Anderson, 18 months, cut right foot on glass.

home in the afternoons and picking up their papers. She said she went by late in the afternoon of March 12 and that nothing in the house was disturbed at that time.

Leonard Cortez Poley of East Prairie, charged with a second offense of driving while intoxicated, was fined $100. He also was fined $25 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was revoked. The 40-day jail sentence was suspended on payment of fines.

Burglary and larceny charges against Dale McMillen, Ronnie McMillen and Lloyd Dean of Charleston were continued one week to give them time to employ attorneys. The three are accused of breaking into a barn owned by W. S. Babb of Charleston on April 20 and stealing a five- gallon can of farm chemical. All are free on $1,000 bond.

Larry Lindel Hale of Benton Route One received a total of $140 in fines plus costs or a 30- day jail sentence on charges of driving while intoxicated, unlicensed operator and careless and imprudent driving by failure to stop for a stop sign.

Peace disturbance charges brought a $33.75 fine to Albert Perry and a $32.25 fine to Mary Petty of Wyatt. William Eugene Housman of Charleston paid a $21 fine on a charge of careless and imprudent driving.

A warrant was issued for Ricky Lee Patrick of East Prairie after he failed to appear on a charge of underage possession of five per cent beer.

A charge of driving while intoxicated and underage possession of beer against Sammy Dale Morgan of Charleston was continued to May 16. Also continued to May 16 was a charge of possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) against Monty Lenden Thurman of Charleston, who is free on $5,000 bond.

In civil action, a default judgment of $364.14 and costs was awarded to C. H. Randall, doing business as Bootheel L. P. Gas Co. in an account suit brought against James Lay. Randall also received default judgement of $413.49 and costs in an account suit brought against Chester Scott.

Cases in Magistrate Court earlier this week included: Harold Gene Gough, speeding, $38; Vivian Sparks, driving while intoxicated, $124.50; Sid Franklin Clymer, driving while intoxicated, $123; and Jeffrey Allen Flesmer, speeding, $71.

World news in brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tape of a White House conversation two months before the June 1972 Watergate burglary emerged today as a key piece of evidence missing in the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment probe.

Committee sources said a subpoena for the tape will probably be issued next week.

The tape of an April 4, 1972, meeting between President Nixon, former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell is one of 76 Watergate tapes Nixon has refused to turn over to the committee.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Police opened fire Thursday night on hundreds of protesting students, and hospital spokesmen said six of the young people were wounded.The students were protesting the death on Wednesday of a demonstrator shot by police during a march on the Guatemalan embassy. The marchers were protesting the outcome of the presidential election in Guatemala, where the congress declared the conservative candidate the victor after a close race with a leftist.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Mariner 10 spacecraft, which provided the first closeup photos of Mercury, was undergoing a change of course today so scientists can take another look at the planet closest to the sun next September

Rockets aboard the spacecraft were fired for 3 minutes and 15 seconds Thursday and another burn of 2 minutes 19 seconds was scheduled for this afternoon.

A spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the maneuver is designed to alter Mariner's course so that its television cameras will be aimed at the bright side of Mercury when it passes within 29,500 miles of the planet on Sept. 21. Mariner is currently orbiting around the sun.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a bill to provide an official residence for the vice president on the Naval Observatory grounds.

The three-story house, built in 1893, has been occupied for 40 years as the residence of the chief of naval operations.

The resolution, sponsored by 32 senators including former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, would take over the property, along with 12 acres of surrounding grounds, when it is vacated. That will be about July 1 with the retirement of the present Navy chief, Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr.

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI has added his voice to the Roman Catholic church's campaign for repeal of Italy's divorce law in a referendum Sunday and Monday. The Pope met for an hour Thursday with Italian bishops and announced his full support for their repeal drive. Although a staunch opponent of divorce, the pontiff had not previously taking notice of the referendum in a public statement. He said he fully supported their stand in favor of the "indissolubility of marriage." About 35 million Italians are eligible to vote whether the three-year-old law permitting divorce should remain on the books. A majority vote against the law will automatically repeal it.

RODDY McDOWALL GUESTS ON "THE CAROL BURNETT SHOW" MAY 11

Roddy McDowall dons his "Planet of the Apes" wardrobe for musical monkeyshines with Carol Burnett, and Miss Burnett gives a music lesson to the Jackson Five recording stars-- two of the musical- comedy highlights of "The Carol Burnett Show" Saturday, May 11 (10:00- 11:00 PM, EDT) on the CBS Television Network. (Originally presented on the Network on March 16, 1974.)

In comedy sketches, McDowall appears as a world-famous author returning for a short visit to his hometown, only to be greeted by his sister (Miss Burnett), his mother (Vicki Lawrence) and his brother-in- law (Harvey Korman), all of whom are completely wrapped up in their own daily lives and ignore him.

Miss Burnett plays a lady carpenter reporting to the job, only to be confronted by two male- chauvinist co-workers (Korman and Lyle Waggoner) who resent her, and Miss Burnett and McDowall are seen as two lonely people, unhappily married to others, who share a brief encounter in an English tea shop.

You're never too old to hear better.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, MO. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A replica of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation.

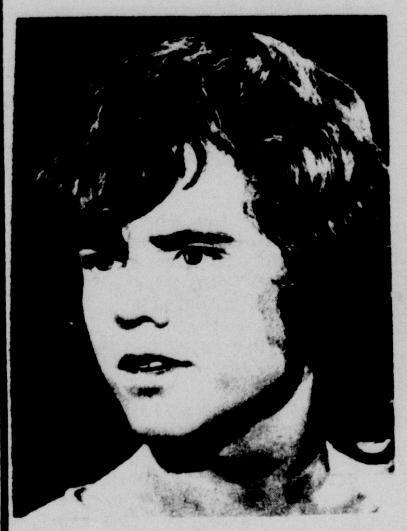
A WORLD OF LOVE FOR MOTHER



BUTCH PATRICK
Mark in 'Lidsville'
Saturdays, NBC
Television Network

Since 1971 Butch Patrick has been "Mark" of the magical land of Lidsville. However, the teen- age actor has a long history of involvement with strange and wonderful people, such as the inhabitants of Lidsville, including The Munsters (he was the youngest member of the TV family). An actor by accident, Butch accompanied his mother and sister when the little girl went to a major studio to test for a film role. She failed to get the part but the studio hired Butch on the spot.

Born in Inglewood, California, Butch also has two younger brothers who are often seen in TV commercials. He has starred in two Walt Disney features, "Way Down Cellar" and "The Loner" and was featured in the motion pictures "The Phantom Tollbooth" and "The Sandpit General."

Johnny Whitaker
'Sigmund and the Sea Monsters'
Saturdays,
NBC Television Network

Johnny Whitaker made his professional debut in a television commerical. Six months later he appeared in the live program "Day In Court."

The exposure was all Johnny needed. After displaying remarkable poise and professional instincts, he was acting in network television shows, including "General Hospital." "Bonanza." "Gunsmoke," "Lancer," "Green Acres" and "Bewitched."

He made his motion picture debut in the 1966 film "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," starring Brian Keith, who urged television director Don Fedderson to select Johnny to co-star in his new "Family Affair" show. During the six year run, he also starred in the NBC-TV "Hallmark Hall of Fame's" Christmas special, "The Littlest Angel."

Since "Family Affair" was cancelled in 1971, Johnny has starred in the Walt Disney films "The Biscuit Eater," "Napoleon and Samantha," "Snowball Express" and, most recently, "Tom Sawyer."

Johnny lives with his parents, five sisters and two brothers in San Fernando, Calif.

Tuesday Highlights

7:00 NBC— ADAM- 12— "Sky Watch." Officers Malloy and Reed spend a week working from a police helicopter chasing homicide suspects and a stolen plane.

7:00 CBS— MAUDE— Maude and Walter are looking forward to attending a banquet honoring them as "Husband and Wife of the Year" for their work on behalf of equal rights for women— until Maude learns Walter isn't practicing what he's preaching.

7:00 ABC— HAPPY DAYS— "Richie's Cup Runneth Over", with guest star Louisa Moritz. Richie attends his first bachelor party with Potsie and a bunch of Marines and is driven home by a dancer who pops out of a cake

7:30 ABC— MOVIE— "The Affair", starring Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner. The tender story of a 32- year- old woman, crippled since childhood by polio, who experiences the joys and sorrows of love for the first time

7:30 NBC— MOVIE— "Tenafly" and "Lady Luck." James McEachin, as a private eye and devoted family man, gets wrapped up in a scandalous murder case in the 90- minute drama. "Tenafly"; Valarie Perrine, as a mystery woman, changes a despondent young man's luck for the better in the half- hour comedy, "Lady Luck."

7:30 CBS— HAWAII FIVE- O— "V for Vashon" The criminal empire, a dynastic gangland family operating in Hawaii, surfaces curiously after a dormant period of several years. They present McGarrett with one of his stiffest and most dramatic challenges as the top investigator of the Five- O unit. Robert Drivas, Harold Gould and Luther Adler are featured.

REBECCA BELL
NBC News
Correspondent

Rebecca Bell, based in Chicago, was named an NBC News correspondent in January, 1973. Previously, from November, 1970, she had been a reporter with WMAQ-TV, the NBC Television Station in Chicago. In 1972, she was put on temporary assignment as NBC-TV Network political reporter to cover the Presidential election campaign of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Journalism became Miss Bell's career shortly after she graduated from Cornell University with a B. A. degree in 1962. That year she joined NBC News as a reporter for WDSU-TV, the NBC affiliate in New Orleans. Following that, she spent a brief time at KYW- TV in Philadelphia during 1964 before moving on to WKYC-TV in Cleveland in 1965, where she covered the state legislature and City Hall for three years. In 1968 she joined WRC-TV in Washington, D.C., and divided her time covering politics in Washington, New York and Chicago.

Miss Bell was born in Vicksburg, Miss.

FRANK BOURGHOLTZER
NBC News
Correspondent

NBC News correspondent Frank Bourgholtzer, assigned to the Los Angeles bureau, has headed some of the top NBC News bureaus overseas and has reported many important events since joining NBC in 1946 as a member of the Washington news staff.

His first major assignment, in 1947, was White House correspondent. He was chief of the Paris bureau from 1953 to 1955, the Bonn bureau (1955-56), Vienna bureau (1957-58) and Moscoe bureau (1961-63). From 1958 to 1961 he was State Department correspondent. When the Soviet government ordered the Moscow bureau closed in 1963, he reported from Helsinki, and, later, Paris. He returned to Moscow in January, 1965, after Soviet authorities permitted the reopening of the bureau. From July, 1965, until he was transferred to the Los Angeles bureau in 1969, he was again based in Paris.

MARTIN MILNER

Wednesdays, NBC Television Network

Three years ago Martin Milner decided that ranch life, away from the bustling city, would be ideal. He purchased a 24 -acre plot with 2,500 avocado trees near Fallbrook, Calif., about 90 miles from Hollywood, and built a house which he designed.

Milner spends much of his spare time at home with his wife and four children but plans to continue acting indefinitely.

Milner, who stars as Officer Pete Malloy on the NBC Television Network's "Adam - 12" series, made his acting debut at age 10 in a children's play in Seattle, Wash.

A native of Detroit, Milner moved to Seattle, where he attended grade school. While a teen -ager, he moved to North Hollywood, Calif. In high school he prepared for his acting career by hiring an acting coach, which led to his acquiring an agent. He later studied theatre arts at the University of Southern California.

HIs first major motion picture role came in 1947 when he played John Day, the second oldest son in "Life With Father."

Shortly after finishing the film, Milner was stricken with polio. There were periods of despair but he recovered completely after being bedridden for a year.

In 1952 his career again was interrupted, this time by induction into the Army for a two -year hitch. He was assigned to direct 20 training films. In addition, he served as a master of ceremonies for a touring show unit based at Fort Ord, Calif.

While still in the Army he was cast in "The Long Gray Line," the 1955 film starring Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara.

But 1957 was probably the momentous year of his life. Milner married actress -singer Judy Jones; he won an important role in Hecht -Hill Lancaster production, "Sweet Smell of Success." and he played a major part in the Warner Bros. picture, "Marjorie Morningstar."

Three years later, Milner began a four -year run starring as Tod Stiles in the Tv series , "Route 66." He traveled all over the country while doing the show.

When "Route 66" ended, Milner returned to motion pictures and guest -star roles on TV.

Milner's firm, dependable manner has led him to be tagged "a modern John Wayne." But instead of riding a horse, he's usually behind the wheel of a patrol car. This season will be the sixth year for "Adam -12," and the sixth year the Milner will be the wheel man in the police unit.

Carly's Life Becomes Positive

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

James Taylor answers the door. His wife Carly Simon is feeding a bottle of herbal tea with honey in it to their baby, Sarah. The sun streams in with golden serenity.

Miss Simon and Sarah go into the living room so that Mother can be interviewed. The tea drinking continues, with pauses for smiles, spitups and coos from Sarah, born Jan. 7. Father sings, now and again, in another room.

"They're only at this age where they need your undivided attention for a short time," Miss Simon says. "They're so helpless. They can't walk or talk. At this point I don't like to leave her for very long. It's such a tender age.

"All my clothes have this kind of funny smell and over the shoulders there is a little crust. There's an amazing amount of spitup in this house. We got an Oriental rug so it won't show."

Her songs these days reflect the domestic contentment that can be seen in this house. The most recent album, "Hot Cakes," reached No. 3 on the best-selling chart of March 16 and is going down very slowly, No. 6 on April 6. "Mockingbird," a single from it by Taylor and Miss Simon, was No. 3 on March 30 and April 6. "Haven't Had Time for the Pain" one of two co-written by Jack Brackman, will be the next single released.

"My last album in many ways showed a much more contented person. I was struggling a lot less with myself. Some critics called it frivolous. I just had happy subjects to write about rather than bleak, gloomy ones. It is funny that critics should consider something frivolous if it is content. If you're an artist you should always be struggling and always at the point of despair.

"At times now when I'm at the point of despair I'm not as inclined to write about it as I used to be. That's what the lines mean in 'Misfit.' 'It is hip to be miserable if you're young and intellectual. In a bit you'll admit you're a misfit.' It's making fun of neurotic persons who want to be more neurotic so they can be a real artist. They think the only way they can be a real artist is if they're neurotic.

"I'm less interested in my despair than in my happiness at the moment. My unhappiness used to intrigue me beyond belief. Now I'm kind of tired of that image.

"A lot of it has to do with self-image. I no longer think of myself as being primarily despondent. I think of myself as being actively trying to deal with my life in a positive way. I just enjoy things now. I don't take pride in self-pity. A happy marriage is a big part of that. It has got to be.

"I still do write songs to try to solve problems. When I'm groping with something I can't figure out an answer to I'll try to work it into a song and work it out like that. It is not as if I only write about positive things.

American Republic will provide benefits in the amount of $37.50 a day beginning the first day you are hospitalized for covered sickness or injury...

...and the policy is guaranteed renewable for life.

Since the average stay in the hospital for people under sixty-five is about seven days, it is important that you buy a hospital policy that starts paying the first day you are hospitalized for covered sickness or injury. The Americare® Hospitalization Compensation Policy is basic first day coverage which can be valuable to any other supplemental policy you might own that only offers protection after the third, fifth or even after the seventh day of hospital confinement.

Yours for a lifetime.

You will be covered as long as you live and continue to pay your current premium on time. Your policy cannot be cancelled nor will we fail to renew it because of health reasons, regardless of the number of claims.

Why you may need Americare in addition to other hospitalization insurance you may have.

According to the American Hospital Association the average cost per patient day in the hospital reached $105.30 in January of 1973. In fact, this cost has increased over 100% in ten short years.

You probably have group insurance or a policy purchased from your agent. Keep it. You need it.

A hospital stay of only a few days can deplete your savings and leave you in debt. Your Americare protection can help you meet all of your hospital-stay related expenses and supplement the coverage of your present insurance. Perhaps the knowledge that you do have freedom from a degree of worry about money problems could even help speed recovery.

Benefits are paid direct to you, or if you wish they will be sent to your doctor or hospital.

This policy (Form A1392) provides benefits in addition to any other insurance you may have. It even pays benefits in addition to Workmen's Compensation and Medicare.

Send in the card below for a FREE gift and complete information about Americare, the policy that provides protection for the short or the long term hospital stay, even up to 365 days.

EXCEPTIONS:

This policy does not cover any hospitalization for accidents sustained before your policy is issued, or any sickness that manifests itself before the policy has been in force for 30 days. Nor does it cover hospital care due to war, mental disorder, maternity, or dental work. Or when you are in a U.S. Government or Veterans Hospital (not applicable in Missouri or Minnesota).

Your individual rate can never be changed unless the rate is changed for all policyholders in your class, or all policyholders of your age at the time your policy was issued, or for your sex.

Act Now!

Don't gamble with your future. According to the latest published figures, one person in seven will go to the hospital this year. Right now, while it is fresh in your mind—please fill in the postage-paid reply card below and mail it today. You will receive the FREE gift shown and complete information on how you can apply for this Americare Hospitalization Compensation Policy.

MAY 11, 1974

Dear Friend,

You are aware of the dramatic increase in the price of food, gasoline, clothing, in fact about everything you buy. But are you aware that hospitalization costs have continued to rise to record levels?

According to the American Hospital Association, the average cost per patient day in the hospital reached $105.30 a day in January of 1973, over a 14% increase in just the last year!

Stop for a moment and consider this daily cost against what your present insurance will pay. You will probably discover that your policy will not adequately meet today's high cost of a hospital stay. If it doesn't, you need the supplemental protection of the Americare® Hospitalization Compensation Policy.

Here are some facts about Americare Hospitalization Policies which will appeal to you...

...the policy is guaranteed renewable for life.

...of the top forty insurance companies writing individual accident and health insurance, American Republic paid 14.3% more in benefits than did the average of the other thirty-nine companies.*

All you have to do to receive additional information about this policy is to fill out and mail the postage-paid reply card below. You will receive the FREE gift. You are under no obligation to buy.

Man of the Year

Myers named Man of Year

Peter C. Myers, 1007 Davis Blvd., was named the Man of the Year Thursday night at the 24th annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at Ramada Inn.

Myers, 43, is active in farming, civic and religious affairs in Sikeston.

Both he and his wife Mary are natives of Racine, Wis., a city of 100,000 located on Lake Michigan. They have five children. Myers graduated in 1953 from University of Wisconsin with a degree in animal husbandry. In 1955, after two years in the Army, he moved to Canalou where he rented 195 acres of land and began a farming career.

In 1970, he moved his family to Sikeston.

His farming operation has grown to over 2,000 acres. He is building a herd of beef cattle and grows and processes over 1,000 hogs a year.

He was awarded the Outstanding Young Farmer Award in 1966 by the Sikeston Jaycees in an area-wide competition, and the same year won the state award. In 1967, he won one of four national awards for Outstanding Young Farmers by the U. S. Jaycees.

He has been a member of the Sikeston Rotary Club for four years. He has served on the organization's board of directors and for three years the Chili Day chairman.

He has been a 4-H leader for 20 years, heads a swine production project for the area, provides acreage for conservation and camping and was involved in tree planting projects on both Allen and Davis Boulevards.

For the past three years, Myers has been chairman of the Youth Fair held annually in Sikeston for young people throughout the area.

He has been active in the Future Farmers of America program, organizing juding teams for both cattle and hogs and has also assisted the vocational agriculture teacher at Matthews High School.

He is the agricultural consultant for the Girl Scout International Wider Opportunity event to be held in Sikeston in August 1975. He will organize field trips so the girls may learn about Southeast Missouri agriculture.

Myers is a member of Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church, where he has been an active deacon for three years and a ruling elder for two years. He also is the Christian educational chairman, coach of the church basketball team, member of the church softball team and helps in youth activities of the church.

He is a past Sunday School superintendent and is now a Sunday School teacher. Myers is also a lay minister who fills the pulpit in the absence of the minister. He and his wife belong to the Ecumenical Couples Club, an inter-racial, inter-denominational organization which discusses current social issues at its meetings.

Myers is the current president of the Lee Hunter Elementary School Parent- Teachers Association in Sikeston and is a past PTA president of the school of Matthews.

He has been active in the Sikeston Jaycees, assisting them in the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo and was chairman of the Outstanding Young Farmer program for four years before winning the award himself in 1966.

He has served for the past three years on the advisory board of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Council for the entire operation for low - income people in the Missouri Bootheel.

In 1970, he was given a Centennial Award by the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

He is president of the New Madrid County Farm Bureau and is a member of the Scott County Pork Producers Association and Missouri Livestock Producers Association.

He has been active in state politics, supporting candidates on a non-partisan basis. He does not belong to or associate himself with any particular political party, preferring to support the candidate as a man rather than as a political party member.

Myers is a member of the Governor's Advisory Council and the state task force for international business development.

He is a past member of the Missouri Farm Bureau board of directors composed of six men selected on a statewide basis.

He is an alternate delegate to the National Cotton Producers Association.

He has been featured in the St. Louis Post- Dispatch Sunday Magazine and has been the subject of feature articles in several monthly agricultural publications.

The guest speaker at the banquet was George Gray, director of community development and governmental affairs on the executive staff of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

Gray said Sikeston and St. Louis share some common elements which make them attractive to industry. Both are near the center of the nation and make good distribution points, both have abundant land and both have a large source of available manpower.

He said Sikeston and the area should set a goal and work toward it. The Chamber of Commerce is the ideal organization to get the job done, he said.

It's necessary to get all the citizens in the community involved and to realize the project will take time to complete, he added.

Associate offices serve as information clearing houses and as listening posts for input into the department from the area. Approximately 750 chambers participate in the program.

Murder suspect bound over to Circuit Court

CHARLESTON — Mrs. Alma Williams of Charleston was bound over to Circuit Court Thursday following a preliminary hearing on a second- degree murder charge before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr.

Mrs. Williams, who is accused of the April 20 stabbing death of Lenora Henderson of Charleston, remains in custody under $1,000 bond which was set Thursday.

According to Dr. Ahlvin, Miss Henderson's death resulted from a one- half inch long wound, three and one-half inches or more in depth, at the base of the neck on the right side, caused from a cutting type instrument which went through a neck muscle, continued into the chest cavity and damaged one of the pulmonary arteries allowing blood to escape and fill the chest cavity. He said the escaping blood collected in the pericardium sac, choking off the heart and causing death.

Mrs. Johnson testified she was in Johnnie Joyner's car the night of April 20, along with Mrs. Williams, Miss Henderson, Miss Moore and Miss Standback. She said the group had been to Wyatt and, on the return trip, Miss Henderson was teasing Mrs. Williams by pulling at her wig. Miss Henderson was in the back seat of the car and Mrs. Williams was in the front seat.

According to Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Williams told Miss Henderson to stop pulling at her wig several times, and she quoted Mrs. Williams as telling her, "You will stop". She said Mrs. Williams then pulled aknife from her purse, said, "Now do it again," and turned around in the seat and hit at Miss Henderson over the back of the seat.

Although she did not see the knife, Mrs. Johnson said she heard Miss Henderson say she had been cut.

Testimony from Miss Moore and Miss Standback corresponded with testimony by Mrs. Johnson, although both testified they saw the weapon, which appeared to be a butcher knife.

In another case, Delbert Curtis of Charleston was bound over to Circuit Court for a May 14 appearance following a preliminary hearing on a burglary and larceny charge.

Earnie Doyle Green of East Prairie, arrested with Curtis, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court.

Green was released after posting $1,000 bond, and Curtis is free on $2,500 bond.

Testifying at Curtis's preliminary were Charleston Police Chief Bob Ritchey, Paul Barnes and Mrs. Roberta Powell of Charleston. The charges against Green and Curtis stem from a break-in at the Paul Barnes home, 407 N. Virginia St., and the theft of about 26 guns.

Eight guns were introduced into evidence, and according to Chief Ritchey, six of the guns were obtained from Richard McCollough, who reportedly bought the guns from Curtis and Green. The other two guns were found under some bushes on South Main Street by children.

Barnes testified that he and his wife were away from home March 5-13 and found the garage doors at their home open on their return and the glass in the back door broken out.

He said 26 guns were missing from his gun case and a jewelry case from a chest of drawers in a bedroom was also missing. He identified the eight guns as his property and said he had been collecting them for 12 to 15 years.

Barnes said he did not have the serial numbers of the guns written down but was able to identify his own merchandise. The other guns have not been recovered.

Mrs. Powell, a sister- in-law of Barnes, testified she had been going by the Barnes

Freedom Shrine to be dedicated

The Exchange Club of Sikeston will present a Freedom Shrine— an exhibit of 28 authentic reproductions of historically famous American documents— to Sikeston Junior High School, club president Duane DeCota announced today.

The shrine will be formally dedicated at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the new junior high school, where the collection will be on permanent display. The documents in the exhibit span 325 years from the Mayflower Compact to the World War II instrument of surrender in the Pacific.

James I. Spainhower of Jefferson City, Missouri state treasurer, will deliver the dedicatory address, and, DeCota will make the presentation on behalf of the Exchange Club. Accepting for the junior high school will be principal W. L. Clayton.

DeCota said, "The Freedom Shrine is exclusively an Exchange Club project, and an important part of the overall American citizenship program of Exchange. Its documents vividly illustrate America's precious heritage of freedom and serve as a reminder that it must be protected and revitalized in every generation.

"The Freedom Shrine is the Exchange Club's positive rebuttal to all ideologies which would pervert or destroy our American way of life," he added.

All of the historical papers in the Freedom Shrine collection are exact photographic reproductions of the priceless originals. Each document is permanently mounted on an individual wood- grained plaque and protected against deterioration and damage by plastic lamination.

EAST PRAIRIE — A proposed city operating budget of $365,000 for 1974-75 was submitted for review to the City Council Thursday night by City Manager Bob Kakac. Action on the budget will be taken at a later date.

It was announced that the city has signed a contract with Bill Jones, operator of Jones Sanitation Service, for a solid waste disposal service to go into effect June 1. Residents will be charged $3 a month for the service. The fee will be added to the July water bill, with $2.50 going to Jones and 50 cents to the city for billing and collecting. Metal or weather- proof plastic containers from 20 to 30 gallons in capacity with lid and handles will be required. Curbside or alley pickups will be made weekly.

The council agreed to sign a contract with Missouri Petroleum Products Co. of Overland for street oil. At present, the cost of the oil is 38.5 cents per gallon, compared to 19.1 cents per gallon last year.

Ken Stallings, a representative of the accounting firm of James V. Stallings and Co. of Sikeston, met with the council for discussion of his company's price for doing utility billing for the city. An estimated price of 22 to 25 cents per bill was given.

Objections to the ways lifeguards are hired for the city's swimming pool were voiced by Mrs. Elsie Morris and Jack Emory, parents of two girls who worked as life guards at the pool last year. The matter was referred to City Manager Kakac.

The pool will open June 4 and be managed by Robert Hess. Last year six girls were hired as lifeguards, and this year four girls and two boys were selected by Hess for approval by Kakac.

City Attorney Fielding Potashnick of Sikeston was instructed to draw up legal papers calling for the advertisement for bids on the sale of the city - owned building on Washington Drive. He was also authorized to file the city's objection to the increase in the gas rate sought by Arkansas Missouri Power Co.

The city has been requested to give financial assistance to the Mississippi County Retired Senior Volunteer Program, and Potashnick was asked to determine if revenue- sharing funds can be used for this purpose.

The collector reported April collections amounted to $17,981.52, and expenditures totaled $8,569.06. Fines for the month assessed by Police Judge Sidney Drummond were $1,352, with $974 of the amount collected.

Dexter soldier dies in crash

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three men killed in an Interstate 10 crash of two cars and a truck Thursday were identified today.

Police listed them as Michael G. Barker, 23, an Army lieutenant from Dexter, Mo.; Eugene Carl Thrift, 19, of Jacksonville; Kay Junior Lester, 24, of Columbus, Ohio.

Barker was alone in his car headed westward from Jacksonville. Police said Barker's car crossed the grassy median and ran head-on into an eastbound car driven by Thrift with Lester as a passenger.

Waldman withdraws

BENTON — Phil Waldman Jr. of Sikeston withdrew Thursday as a candidate for County Clerk in the Aug. 6 Democratic primary election.

He had previously filed as a candidate for the office held by Bob Kielhofner of Chaffee, who is seeking re-election.

Waldman held the county clerk post prior to an unsuccessful bid in 1970 for the county collector's position.

Sikeston man turns 108

Stanley Moore had a birthday Thursday. It was his 108th.

He was born to former slaves in Meadeville, Miss. in 1865, the year the Civil War ended.

Moore's first 13 years were spent on his "parents' cotton farm." Then, on his 13th Christmas day, he left home to start decades of traveling around the United States.

First stop was New Orleans, then to the West, back to Chicago and around the nation. He says that at various times he worked on farms, cleaned a pool hall in Chicago, gambled in Memphis and trapped furs for a living.

Missouri finally became Moore's home then he moved to Sikeston in 1939. He has lived at 1600 rear North Street since 1956.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

* * *

It's Spring! That time of year when nature shows off its beauty and perfection is here. Unfortunately, nature sometimes falls short of its usual excellence. And, when those shortcomings manifest themselves as birth defects, the results is heartbreakingly tragic.

The National Foundation - March of Dimes, the voluntary heath organization dedicated to preventing birth defects, is launching Healthy Baby Week this Sunday, Mother's Day, May 12.

Healthy Baby Week is an annual event to inform all present and future mothers of the importance of medical care before, during, and after pregnancy.

Every mother needs regular care throughout pregnancy, including labor and delivery. She and her baby must have expert attention for any complication.

We urge the citizens of Sikeston to support this worthwhile effort. We support the efforts of The National Foundation - March of Dimes in establishing effective prenatal care centers. And, we implore all parents and parents- to- be to be aware of the dangers and join the fight against birth defects.

JUST SOME
POCKET CHANGE

Denied its request that Congress raise the ceiling for arms aid to South Vietnam from $1.126 to $1.6 billion for the current fiscal year, the Defense Department now reports that it has found an extra $266 million lying around the Pentagon not doing anything. If Congress doesn't object — and Congress apparently won't — it will be forwarded to our Southeast Asia friends.

It is not clear just where this $266 million was hiding or what it was originally intended for. It is a pittance, really, left over from last year's defense appropriation.

But — foolish question — would it ever have been found had Congress not said "No" to the Pentagon's request for additional funds? Or if found, would it have been reported or turned back to the Treasury?

Is the moon made of green cheese?

PLANTS

Most plants you grow indoors need more light than they can get through the windows, and the American Association of Nurserymen has some pointers on the subject.

Foliage plants do best under fluorescent light, but flowering plants need a bit of incandescent lighting added to get some of the far-red rays from the color spectrum. Figure one watt of incandescent lighting for every three of fluorescent.

DOWN ON LARSON'S FARM

One of the interesting things about Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers union is that it doesn't have many contracts or members any more; after the world famous table grape boycott of the late 1960s, the UFWA signed up 26 large California grape growers in one fell swoop but today it represents grape workers on only one California farm and it may have only 12 contracts in all.

To a large degree Mr. Chavez's troubles can be blamed on enmity from the growers and competition from the Teamsters union. But there also is evidence of disaffection among UFWA members. Last month, workers at the Coachella Valley vineyard of K. K. Larson voted overwhelmingly to ask Mr. Larson not to negotiate another contract with Mr. Chavez. Mr. Larson thereupon broke off negotiations with the UFWA. Last week, he negotiated a contract with the Teamsters.

This clue to Mr. Chavez's popularity with farm workers themselves has some importance because consumers soon are going to hear new demands to boycott California table trapes and lettuce on Mr. Chavez's behalf. The urging will come from the AFL-CIO, which has decided to skate very close to possible violations of anti-boycott laws to give Mr. Chavez some help. The Teamsters, by the way, are threatening to retaliate against AFL-CIO unions which respond to George Meany's boycott call.

Mr. Chavez and his host of admirers in distant liberal centers like Cambridge and Washington would have everyone believe he is fighting for the farm workers, not for union power. Mr. Meany says he too is fighting for the farm workers, although he has had some past reservations about how closely to identify with Chavez philosophies. And Frank Fitzsimmons of the Teamsters, who has captured much of the lettuce and grape country from Mr. Chavez, says naturally that he too is fighting for the workers.

It should be noted however that none of the three have been very conscientious about asking the farm workers what they themselves wanted. Many workers clearly have not wanted the kind of hiring hall regimentation and thought control Mr. Chavez sought to impose on them. By and large, the wheeling and dealing among the growers and unions has gone on over the worker's heads, with Mr. Chavez wielding his boycotts, Mr. Fitzsimmons his Teamster muscle and the growers trying to bet the corners.

Which may help explain why the workers down on Larson's farm petitioned for an election and voted 60 to 28 to get out. Since the election was an ad hoc affair supervised by a Catholic priest, the UFWA naturally is claiming hanky panky. But it would seem that Mr. Larson has little to gain from being put on the boycott list just when the AFL-CIO is weighing in.

There soon will probably be AFL-CIO pickets with boycott signs picketing neighborhood supermarkets. But when housewives and store managers ask themselves if this battle should somehow affect their consciences, they would have good reason for answering no. The same cannot be said for everyone involved -- The Wall Street Journal.

* * *

The nation's independent business proprietors don't think the Federal Estate Tax is a dead issue. Congress may treat it as one, but the business people are clamoring for a basic reform to stop the tax from being confiscatory, at least in some cases.

The Estate (or death) Tax has forced sale or liquidation of many family- owned businesses and farms, says Congressman O. C. Fisher of Texas, after death of a principal owner because of what he calls "unrealistic" appraisals. Land may be appraised on its highest potential use, and this, combined with low profitability, little cash or few liquid assets, may doom the business. This situation is aggravated by the current inflationary trend.

The solution proposed by Congressman Fisher, providing alternative methods of Estate Tax appraisal, has won support from 81 per cent of the business people polled by the National Federation of Independent Business. His bill would permit appraisal on either the decedent's cost basis, or the earning power of the business, whichever produces the higher valuation. The measure is opposed by only 13 per cent of the business owners with 6 per cent undecided.

The response of Missouri businessmen shows 81 per cent in favor of the Fisher bill, 13 per cent opposed and 6 per cent undecided.

Marginally- profitable businesses which, however, do provide sufficient income for a family are the most frequent losers to the Estate Tax. Former Senator Fred Harris of Oklahoma once commented: "Unfortunately, many revenue agents refuse to give any consideration whatsoever to the earning capacity of a ranch or farm in determining its value for Estate Tax purposes ... they rely only on inflated sale prices of similar farms which have been gobbled up by land speculators."

Representative Fisher's measure would permit the executor to choose the appraisal method, either accepting Internal Revenue's "market" value, or the higher of the new alternatives: the decedent's original cost basis, or a value based on average earnings over the past 10 years. The last method would be based on the 'price versus yield" multiplier of common stocks, as reported periodically by the Federal Reserve System. Thus, it would treat the private business like a publicly- owned corporation in determining "fair market value."

Critics of the Estate Tax also note that stocks and securities can be sold to satisfy the Estate Tax, but privately - owned firms generally have no such option.

The Estate Tax has also caused sale of many privately - held businesses prior to an owner's death to avoid this crisis for heirs. So the tax has contributed to mergers and sales of such businesses to corporations and conglomerates, it is charged. And this passage of land and business from family ownership is one of the major reasons why independent businessmen are most emphatic in supporting Representative Fisher's Estate Tax reform bill, says NFIB.

'THERE'S A SMALL HOTEL'

The diner was annoyed because the waiter had brought him a knife and fork, but no spoon. "This coffee," he said pointedly, "is going to be pretty hot to stir with my fingers."

The waiter reddened, and beat a hasty retreat to the kitchen. He returned shortly with another cup of coffee. "This one isn't so hot, sir," he beamed.

CONSEQUENCES TO CONTEMPLATE

Forecasts of possible power shortages have been fairly common due, in substantial part, to the delays imposed on power plant siting and construction by environmental litigation and time- consuming regulatory reviews. The consequences of a large- scale, prolonged power outage are grim indeed. The production vice president of an investor- owned electric company in Minnesota has described in graphic detail what happens when the power lines go dead.

"The first few minutes", he says, "... are rather fun for most people. They kid each other, make jokes ... after about two minutes, people start getting restless. Traffic jams are appearing. Managers begin to worry about production. Remember, no electric tool – from punch press to typewriter ... will work. As time passes, a sort of urgency sets in. Foremen start sending people home ... Water pressure doesn't last long because the pumps have quit ... The sewer system is likewise not working, and many low- lying homes are getting sewage backup because lift pumps are out ... After 20 hours or so, real hardship is felt by everyone. Mere survival becomes important ... Spread of diseases due to poor sanitation, spoiled food and so on becomes a problem ... an extended loss of electrical power over a wide area would be a catastrophe of the first magnitude. People would die because of it, and everyone would suffer hardship and financial loss."

The price of unnecessarily obstructing the timetable of utility plant construction and otherwise undermining future energy supplies is higher than the human mind can comprehend.

END OF WAGE-
PRICE CONTROLS
BRINGS PRESSURE

Price controls always have been failures and always will be. This difficult lesson must be re- learned every generation or two. Not even the powers of Roman emperors or the tyrannies of communism or nazism could make wage- price controls truly work.

Because of bickering and inept leadership, plus a mixture of odd reasons, Congress was unable to agree on anything to keep the law from expiring on schedule. Liberal politicians and unions, along with leftist professors, economists and mediamen, demanded originally that Congress enact the law setting up stand- by wage and price controls. Constructive members of Congress and the Administration opposed the law, pointing out the complete failure of controls even during and after world War II when the nation was united in a great crusade against the Nazis.

When excessive federal spending, deficits and increase of the money supply all combine to increase inflation, the demagogues began baying. They clamored until President Nixon knuckled under to the pressure and imposed a "freeze." The result was shortages and distortions, inequities and bankruptcies among producers.

Apparently few learned anything from that debacle, because the pressure is mounting already to again attempt the impossible. Demagogues imply to workers and investors alike that the other guy's wages and profits can be held down and his prices can be held below costs, but "ours" will not be bothered. It never works. The only solution to shortages is production. The only solution to "fair" prices is free competition. The only true gauge is profit-- or loss. HLH

WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON-- The key word that keeps popping up in the transcripts of the presidential tapes is "scenario." The President and his aides kept coming up with a scenario for every setback in the Watergate case.

The one scenario they never constructed, and the most vital one in my opinion, is what they should have done when Alexander Butterfield disclosed the President had taped everyone who came into the Oval Office. If I had been the President's trusted adviser, this is how I would have handled it. I'll be B and the President will be P.

P: ('Oh fudge' deleted)

P: (Gee willikers! deleted) What do you suggest we do?

B: They're going to demand those tapes. You can bet your sweet (inaudible) on that. We have the following options. (A) we turn them over, (B) we refuse to turn them over or (C) we have a fire in the White House basement.

P: Tell me about "C."

B: Yes, sir. It's late at night and you're up in the bedroom and Mrs. Nixon says she smells smoke. You tell her Kissinger is probably burning some old cables.

P: (Golly gumdrops! deleted) suppose the butler comes in and says he smells smoke also?

B: You tell him to mind his own (expletive deleted) business and go back to bed.

P: Hmmmm. You know there are a (heckava deleted) lot of tapes in the basement. What happens when the fire department is called? They could put out the fire right away and save the tapes.

B: You stonewall them in the Rose Garden and tell them how proud you are of the fire fighters of America and how them come to the White House at that hour in the morning. We'll get Pat Buchanan to write up a little speech for you to deliver in which you point out the difference between fire departments of the United States and those in the enslaved countries of the world that you have been to.

P: What are the differences?

B: In America every local community can choose its own fire- fighting equipment, and the government does not dictate what type of trucks they should order. If a community wants a hook and ladder, they can order a hook and ladder. If they decide they'd rather have a pumper, it's their option.

P: So while I'm reading the speech the fire in the basement is going full blast?

B: Right. Now for safety, what we ought to do is have you present each fireman with a scroll expressing the gratitude of every man, woman and child in this nation for the wonderful work they are doing. You could personally sign each one in front of them. This should give us enough time to burn up every tape you ever made.

P: (Yippee dee doo da! deleted) I could go on television the next day and say how distraught I am that these tapes, which would have proved my innocence, once and for all, have gone up in smoke and have been lost to history. But I can promise to turn over all my notes of those conversations which will show I knew nothing about Watergate or the coverup. Without the tapes we've got the darn Watergate committee by the (cat's whiskers deleted). Good work, Art. Oh, there is one more thing. How did the fire start in the first place?

B: John Dean was sneaking a smoke in the basement instead of doing what you asked him to do. And he threw his butt on the tapes.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
The Pennzoil Plan

WASHINGTON-- The Pennzoil company, whose president sent $700,000 to Washington in a company plane for the 1972 Nixon campaign, has slipped a natural gas bonanza through the federal bureaucracy with bewildering speed.

The unusual deal has been secretly criticized in Federal Power Commission documents as a potential "disaster," a "systematic corporate raid" and a probable violation of federal regulations.

It will tap millions from the pockets of housewives, small businessmen and others who depend on natural gas in the South, East and Midwest, the memos indicate. Yet, except for a gutsy FPC lawyer, few in government seem to care.

In simplest terms, Pennzoil is using a complicated stock scheme to spin off United Gas Pipe Line Corp., which services, directly or indirectly, much of the Eastern United States. Unless United is in sound financial condition, rates will go up and services will go down.

The Pennzoil plan is the pride and joy of its president, William Liedtke, who collected $700,000 in cash and negotiable securities from secret Nixon campaign contributors. He stuffed it all into a suitcase in Houston and had it flown under cover of night to Nixon headquarters in Washington.

But $700,000 is chicken feed compared to the figures involved in the Pennzoil natural gas deal. In fact, so important is it to the consumer, that the FPC's assistant general counsel, George Lewnes, suggests the commission quickly reverse the deal.

Already, Lewnes' many memos point out, the Securities and Exchange Commission has let the scheme go through with only a disclosure of its terms. Actually, the SEC was lucky to get even that in the face of Pennzoil's powerful legal assault team.

At the SEC, Pennzoil's case was handled by the prestigious Baker and Botts law firm. One of Baker and Botts' lawyers working on filings was Gordon Gooch, FPC's former general counsel. At the FPC, chances for action are also in question. One FPC commissioner, Rush Moody Jr., was personally championed for his job by Pennzoil's Liedtke.

Nevertheless, FPC lawyer Lewnes, in his memos to the commissioners, urges strong action to protect natural gas users:

"The spin- off of United appears to be one final step in a systematic corporate raid by Pennzoil of United's assets, which may result in detriment not only to United, but to its many consumers," he writes.

"It was the congressional intent...to prevent practices such as United and Pennzoil have incestuously utilized...." Even "standing alone," writes Lewnes, the spin- off "may be a...violation" of federal power regulations.

"Without doubt, after the spin- off is complete, United's financial position will be impaired," the veteran FPC assistant general counsel asserts. The result "could be disastrous."

What will happen, he predicts, is that if United does get financing high interest will drive its rates up. If it does not, there will "unquestionably (be) abandonment of some facilities and service...along the already beleaguered United system."

The memos then warn the commissioners that "becuase of this domino effect, the spin- off should be investigated" and at least temporarily frozen to prevent "a gigantic abandonment of an entire system by Pennzoil."

Footnote: Reached in Houston, Liedtke told us there is "absolutely no connection" between his help to Nixon and approval of the spin- off which he described as totally proper. "I'm shocked by your call," he said. Liedtke said he has not spoken with Commissioner Moody since he took office. Lewnes refused comment on the memos. Gooch told us FPC has no jurisdiction in the case.

INSIDE IMPEACHMENT: Vice President Gerald Ford has become involved behind the scenes in the politics of impeachment. Sources close to the House impeachment proceedings tell us that the Vice President's office has kept in close contact with Sam Garrison, the Republican staff man who was hired to obstruct President Nixon's impeachment.

Garrison has denied that he is obstructing the House Judiciary Committee's investigation. He has contended that we have confused obstruction with opposition.

But committee sources say he was hired for the principal purpose of delaying, harassing and obstructing the impeachment process. Committee sources also report that he has been in "repeated" contact with the Vice President's office.

The day after the Watergate tapes were sent to the committee, for example, Garrison reportedly passed information to the Vice President. Later in the day, Ford launched into an unexpected and bitter attack on Albert Jenner, the senior Republican counsel.

The Vice President, after information was slipped into his office from Garrison, grumped that "I don't like the attitude (Jenner) expressed when he was first appointed."

Reporters, surprised to hear the Vice President attack the Republican counsel, pressed for specifics. "Well," said Ford, "he made some comments, I have forgotten precisely what, shortly after he was picked by the Republicans-- I think mistakenly. He made some comments about impeachment...and in addition, as I understand it, donated $1,000 to Sen. Adlai Stevenson's campaign fund."

The timing and substance of Ford's remarks strongly suggest that Garrison may have put the words in the Vice President's mouth. But the Vice President, through a spokesman, denied any connection between his comments and Garrison. Ford said he had not spoken with Garrison "for three months or more" but acknowledged that his assistant Walter Mote is in touch with Garrison. The two worked together for some time on former Vice President Spiro Agnew's staff.

A committee spokesman told us that Garrison had not talked to the Vice President for months and that he had not violated the committee's rule against staff members discussing the impeachment with outsiders.

Pop- Top War!
New Environmentalists' Attack on Cans Threatens Jobs of 100,000 Workers

WASHINGTON-- With the nation justifiably fascinated with transcripts, Senatorial environmentalists have declared war on the tin can, the pop- top or lift- off variety, to prove their devotion to cleanliness and to demonstrate that the Congress is still functioning.

No minor matter, this. With expletives deleted, it means that over 100,000 breadearners in the soft drink and beer container and distribution businesses could lose their jobs.

Further, since the new crusade is led by the articulate 51- year- old Senator from Oregon, Mark Hatfield, this marks the surfacing of the Republican Western dark horse in the GOP presidential sweepstakes of 1976-- a man who might be chosen to offset the zooming Democratic frontrunner, Washington state's Sen. Scoop Jackson.

Hatfield, a courageous fellow, who is his World War II Navy days hit the hell hole beaches of Iwo Jima and Okinawa, has introduced S. 2062-- a bill which would outlaw the use of pop- top cans and throwaway non- deposit bottles as beverage containers. Hatfield refers to this as an anti-littering law. One critic dourly remarked it would take the refuse off the streets and replace it with lines of welfare clients.

United Steelworkers of America (AFL- CIO) president I. W. (Abe) Abel, whose 1.4 million- member union encompasses the can workers, is a responsible labor leader. It is he, inside labor, who developed the no- strike steel industry Experimental Negotiating Agreement. Therefore, his word can be taken as gospel when he predicts that in the container industry alone passage of Hatfield's bill would kill up to 58,000 jobs. Then there is the glass bottle field, the brewing and trucking and retail businesses which would be affected. That's a heavy price to pay for litter removal.

Cleanliness may be close to Godliness but the Testaments have much to say about bread. All this and a sense of pragmatic realism appears to many of us to have escaped the environmentalists. They would launch an anti- littering educational campaign. They could go into the slum streets in squads. We could devote the monies which would be wasted on welfare and public assistance for the jobless to new housing.

Their dream has become a nightmare to many who just can't overcome household expenses. For example, Wall Street was earthquaked the other week when New York's massive utility, Consolidated Edison had to eliminate its quarterly dividend. Corny as this sounds this skipped dividend hit widows and orphans and the institutional buyers. Not many speculators in the slow moving Con Ed stock.

The company action came after it ran short of cash after a long seige by environmentalists. This isn't the entire story. But it is much of the reason for the cracking of the stock's value.

Con Ed's efforts to build a nuclear plant have been frustrated by many "happenings" including the environmentalists' opposition. Also, the company was forced to import expensive petroleum when the environmentalists succeeded in preventing it from burning ordinary coal. Too much soot in the air. I was born in the gashouse district. Breathing it hasn't yet affected my appetite.

The increased cost forced a fantastic hike in bills. Con Ed could have saved over $100 million annually had it been permitted to burn coal at just two plants, I'm told. Customers refused to pay. Some wouldn't (bills in fully electrified homes began running over $250 monthly). Some, in the big ghettos, just couldn't.

So the utility reportedly ran $300 million behind in collections. It ran short of cash. To this minute, the environmentalists have been relentless though the loss to institutions and dependent persons counting on the regular dividends has been hurtful in pocket and heart.

Furthermore, a swift check across the country, much of which I have been visiting recently, reveals considerable construction trades unemployment. There are many reasons for this. One cause of the joblessness is the environmentalists' opposition to the building of petroleum refineries and nuclear plants. Greek millionaire Aristotle Onassis has had his agents roaming the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, from New Hampshire to New Orleans seeking a site for a big desperately needed refinery. So has the Shell Oil company. I know of at least six huge petroleum cracking installations which have been rebuffed by local environmentalists.

On the nuclear power plant front, for instance, the island "site" for building of the proposed floating plants will take a full year of dredging-- already delayed years. The operating engineers union reports heavy unemployment (some 30 per cent) in the West and thousands in the East (New Jersey and New England).

This is the moment for realism. Someone always can find trash baskets for discarded pop- top cans and throwaway bottles-- without killing an industry. As for coal soot-- it is easier to take for a while than an empty breadbasket.

Capping marks halfway point in nursing instruction

Members of the 13th Sikeston Public School class of practical nurses were capped April 26 in ceremonies at First Christian Church. Caps were awarded to 36 practical nursing students who have completed six months of the one- year program.

Guest speaker Gary Smith of Jefferson City, state supervisor of manpower training, spoke on the meaning of the cap.

The practical nursing program is under the direction of W. F. Sikeston, director of manpower programs, and Gerald Jackson, director of vocational education, Sikeston Public Schools.

Agencies cooperating with the program include Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston, Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti and the Missouri Division of Employement Security.

Recognition day will honor firemen

Gov. Christopher Bond has proclaimed Saturday as Fire Service Recognition Day in Missouri.

In the proclamation, Bond urges all state residents to visit their fire stations and become acquainted with members of the fire department and the services they provide.

Sikeston Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said no formal open house is planned, but anyone who wants to visit the Sikeston fire houses is welcome.

Bond said "the fire service of our state, cities, towns and fire districts provide many public services in addition to the control, prevention and extinguishment of fires, inspections of commercial and industrial facilities, public buildings, places of assembly, hospitals, schools and convalescant homes.

"Today's firemen, both paid and volunteers, are trained technically and skilled in the profession of saving lives and property of their fellowmen," he said.

The owl hunts by night and strikes small mammals and birds without warning. Death is mercifully swift: strong talons and a sharp beak can crack a victim's back or snap its neck in an instant.

May 23 hearing set for Puxico resident

BLOOMFIELD — A preliminary hearing on May 23 was set Thursday in Magistrate Court for Connie L. Parris of Puxico, who faces charges of possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana and an apparatus for smoking marijuana.

Mike Becker of Bernie, charged with stealing a billfold containing about $300, was bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing. Witnesses called were Glendall Shoemake of Bernie, Bernie Police officer Gerald Grubbs and Stoddard County Deputy Sheriff Arthur Lee.

Larry White and Edward Boyd Redman, charged with driving while intoxicated, were each fined $100 and their driver's license were suspended.

William B. Gray was fined $10 on a charge of careless and imprudent driving. Scott Eugene Durbin pleaded guilty and paid a $10 fine on a charge of having stolen or borrowed license plates and a $15 fine for careless and imprudent driving by causing an accident.

Pleading guilty and paying fines for traffic violations were:

Robert Leon Smith, expired vehicle license, $10; John Wayne Riggins, speeding, $20; Ronnie Lee Jones, two counts of speeding, $25 and $15 respectively; Glen Edgar Moore, expired vehicle license, $10; Charles Albert Smith Jr., speeding, $15; Linda Faye Thacker, speeding $16; Deborah J. Beaker, no operator's license, $10; and Alice Faye Creg, permitting an unauthorized operator to drive, $10.

Cases continued to May 16 included Quincy Murphy, careless and imprudent driving; Juanita Norman, improper parking; Dale Edward Young, careless and imprudent driving; and Paul Arthur Dees, non-support.

Dallas Jean Weakley was released on his own recognizance on a charge of cashing a no funds check, and an insufficient funds check case against Peggy McClatchy was dismissed on payment of costs.

Minister to portray Paul

CHARLESTON— The Rev. Harold Davis, of Paris, Ontario, Canada, internationally known for his exciting portrayals of Biblical characters, will present the drama, "Bible Days Are Here Again," at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at First Assembly of God Church, 606 S. Main St.

The Rev. Mr. Davis will portray the Apostle Paul awaiting his death in a Roman prison. He is visited by Timotheous and a scribe, who asks Paul questions concerning the work of the church. The Rev. Mr. Davis, as Paul, will quote the complete book of Ephesians to provide them with instructions concerning God's will for their church. History is relived in a setting of candlelight and authentic costumes.

The Rev. Jim Young, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, said scriptures and memorable songs are woven together to present a beautiful mosaic.

Cotton Boll Girl Scouts receive first class awards

DEXTER-- Yewell Lawrence, a Dexter businessman, will address the 1974 class of first class Girl Scouts at the annual recognition program in the Dexter High School auditorium Sunday at 3 p.m.

Lawrence, the father of a first class scout and also father of a member of the 1974 class, has chosen as his subject, "The Future, Women and You."

Scouting is a part of the Lawrence family life style, Mrs. Lawrence having served as a Girl Scout leader, plus the scouting activities of daughters Karen and Kelley and son Buddy, now a University of Missouri student, was an active Boy Scout.

Lawrence has served as a member of the Dexter school board for 10 years and as a past president of both the Southeast Missouri School Board Association and Dexter Chamber of Commerce. He presently is a member of the executive board of the American Feed Manufacturers Association and the Dexter Memorial Hospital board of directors.

In the business field, he is president of Monarch Feed Mills, Inc. of Dexter and Pocahontas, Ark., president of the Bank of Bloomfield-Essex, chairman of the board of Monaco Eggs, Inc. of Dexter and Lynn Grove, Ky., and has farming and real estate interests in Stoddard County.

Mrs. Thurston Hill of Dexter, president of the Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council will give the welcoming address, dedicate the class and confer the first class rank. An organ prelude will be presented by Mrs. Bob Coff of Dexter, and the invocation will be given by Michelle Sargent, first class scout of Sikeston Troop 22.

Bloomfield Senior Scout Troop 96 will present the colors, and Miss Karen Crain of Poplar Bluff, president of the Senior Planning Board, will close the program by giving an address of welcome to the Class of 1974.

Mrs. Utterback honored

NEW MADRID — Mrs. Madge Utterback, third grade teacher at Main Street Elementary School, who is retiring after 36 years in the teaching profession, was honored Tuesday night by the school faculty and staff at the annual school dinner.

Mrs. Utterback was presented a scroll of the "Teacher's Creed", an appropriately inscribed silver tray noting the occasion and an orchid corsage by Willie Tollison, school supervisor.

New book about Will Rogers

PORTAGEVILLE — New books at New Madrid County library include "Will Rogers, His Life and Times".

For much of the first third of this century, Will Rogers was not only America's pre- eminent humorist; he was the down-to- earth, horse- sense conscience of the nation.

Will Rogers, His Life and Times" is a fine evocation of a turbulent age as well as the moving story of an American who richly earned the honor and affection that he still receives from his fellow citizens.

Rogers' life (1879-1935) personified a great range of the American experience. Part Cherokee, he spent his boyhood in what was still Indian Territory, and his earliest ambition was to become the world's best trick roper.

Yet here you see how he also became the most popular and best- loved columnist, speaker, broadcaster and movie actor in the history of the United States — a friend of presidents, statesmen, politicians and prominent figures.

Women's Civic Club adjourns until fall

Miniature Maypoles on ivy branches and floral arrangements of early summer flowers from the garden of Mrs. Edna Young Husband and her sister- in-law, Mrs. Hemba Young, enhanced tables Tuesday for Sikeston Woman's Civic Club's potluck luncheon and card party.

The women met at 12:30 p.m. in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room for their last meeting of the season. The club will resume meeting in the fall.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Charles Conn, chairwoman, and Mrs. James Adams, Miss Kathryne Clark, Mrs. Mildred Canedy, Mrs. Robert Hope, Mrs. Gilbert Hopper, Mrs. Husband, Mrs. W. G. Funk and Mrs. L. M. Standley.

Four guests and 33 members attended. Guests were Mrs. Willard Sanders, Mrs. Gladys Stewart, Mrs. Lucille Flewelling and Mrs. Jack Willis.

Mrs. Roy Marks, president, conducted a brief business meeting, during which the club voted to donate $50 to the Child Development Center.

Miss Almaretta Sidwell, ways and means chairman, announced available dates for the semi- annual bus trip to Memphis, Tenn., and members chose Oct. 16 as the fall trip date.

The members were invited to extend a card shower to Mrs. Evelyn Sargent, a club member who is a patient in Methodist Hospital at Memphis.

Mrs. Funk suggested that the Civic Club honor the late Mrs. Betty LaLumandier for her assistance in past club projects by a tree memorial to be planted at the discretion of the Sikeston Park Board.

Winners in afternoon card playing included: bridge-- Ethyl Tanner, Vivian Potashnick, Jo Aufdenberg, Lois Murback and Bea Stauffer; canasta-- Margaret Cain; and pinochle-- Pauline Goolsby.

Ann Landers

Children should have awareness of death, know about funerals

Dear Ann Landers: My sister who was only 38 died of cancer. In addition to the grief, we experienced another problem, and this is what I am writing about. It is too late to undo the damage, but I hope this letter will help others who may one day face a similar situation.

My sister had three children; the youngest was five. Her husband refused to allow the five- year- old to attend the funeral. (Open casket, but the restoration job was remarkably good.) Only the two older children, 10 and 12, were permitted to attend the funeral.

The five- year- old became upset. She asked a great many questions which were not answered properly. The child felt she was being denied a last chance to see her mother. Now she is very angry with her father who made the decision.

Will you please give us your views? Do you believe the child would have experienced recurring nightmares (her father's basis for refusal) and that he did the right thing by protecting her from the trauma? Thank you for your answer, whatever it is.-- Garden City

Dear G.C.: Even at the age of five, a child has an awareness of death. When he finds lifeless birds on the sidewalk, or his fish or his cat or dog dies, he knows that life is over for that creature and he will have to be "put away someplace."

According to Jules Furth, a Chicago funeral director and my principal consultant in these matters, children should not be denied the experience of attending the funeral of a close relative. Leaving out the youngster could lead him to believe he was not as important to his mother as the children who were permitted to attend.

If, on the other hand, the child does NOT want to attend, he shouldn't be encouraged to do so. The decision should be up to him.

Dear Ann Landers: For several years, I was married to a man who insisted on having affairs with his students. He was deceitful, exploitive and an accomplished liar. When he made my life intolerable, I divorced him. But he did NOT snore.

Now I have found a man who is considerate, generous, talented and completely charming. He helps me with the cooking and marketing. We are not only wonderful lovers, but good friends. He, however, DOES snore.

I took the advice you gave someone who wrote in several months ago and invested $1.25 in earplugs. Although they do not block out the snoring completely, they help some.

The point of this letter is to tell you that a good night's sleep depends more on how you feel about the person than whether or not there is noise in the room.-- Morpheus's Mate

Dear Mate: Of course you are right. In fact, some women claim they enjoy the sound of their husband's snoring. (At least they know where he is.)

Dear Ann Landers: A while back you printed a heartbreaking letter from grandparents who were cut off completely from their only grandchild because the boy's mother (their son's ex- wife) wanted to be punitive. I hope they live in Texas. The law is now on their side. The new Family Code, Senate Bill 168, Section 14.03, Clause D, provides grandparents with legal visiting rights.--- Good For Us

Dear Good: Thank you for letting me know. I happily pass the word and hope that the example of the Texas legislature will be followed by all the other 49.

Parents are constantly teaching their children

By SHAREN K. HUNT

BENTON — You teach others constantly, whether you know it or not. Gail Imig, family life specialist at Michigan State University in Lansing, Mich., thinks being aware of this aspect of guidance is the one often misused.

Is your child happy, lively and a joy to be with -- or is he irritable and fearful? Part of the credit for whichever disposition your child has goes to you.

Take the case of the little boy who slammed the door each time he came inside: Each time the door slammed, his mother yelled at him. And he kept right on slamming the door. What does this have to do with teaching children? The mother unknowingly was teaching the child that all he had to do to get her attention was do something aggravating. She responded every time.

What can you do about cases like this? Keep in mind that children repeat behavior that makes them feel good. When a child learns that certain behaviors have certain good consequences or results, he'll repeat them over and over.

In our example, the little boy felt good whenever his mother responded to his door slamming. He liked her attention, so he kept repeating the action that got it, even if mother seemed displeased with his methods. Displeasure was better for him than being treated with indifference.

Just as getting the desired effect strengthens behavior, not getting the result weakens it. This is a powerful tool in helping children learn. Our little boy probably would have given up his door slamming, if his mother hadn't yelled in response. He would have found some other -- perhaps more suitable -- way of getting her attention.

Using this tool of ignoring displeasing behavior means that parents must learn to control their own response to the child's behavior. It's not always possible to control your responses completely, but the more you can train yourself to do this, the more effective you'll be in guiding your child's behavior.

It also means that if you don't reward behavior that you don't want, then you must reward behavior that you do want. Ignoring the child completely is not the answer. He must get some attention.

Controlling your reactions is just one part of guiding your child's behavior. Being consistent in your reaction goes one step further in effectiveness. Your consistence makes your child's life stable.

The perfect beginning and ending for Mother's Day

Why not surprise Mom this Mother's Day morning with Good Morning Bread for breakfast and a light wheat germ and apple dessert after supper to end "her day"?

The recipes are simple to follow, and the bread can be made up Saturday night so there won't be any pots or pans rattling around Sunday morning while the kids are fixing Mom's breakfast.

Quick breads are always popular. There are brunch breads, coffee cakes, breads for dinner and others for dessert. Here is a breakfast bread, featuring corn flakes and Florida orange juice. Include sliced Good Morning Bread along with other favorite foods making a nutritious morning meal.

GOOD MORNING BREAD

1 1/2 cups corn flakes
2 cups regular all- purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup regular margarine or butter, softened
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup Florida orange juice
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1/2 cup seedless raisins

Measure corn flakes; crush to 3/4 cup. Set aside.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside.

Place margarine and sugar in large mixing bowl; beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs and orange rind; beat well. Stir in orange juice, mixing until well blended. Add flour mixture, stirring only until combined. Stir in corn flakes, nuts and raisins. Spread in well greased 9 x 5 x 3- inch loaf pan.

Bake in moderate over (350 degrees) about one hour or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool about 10 minutes before removing from pan. Place on wire rack; cool completely before slicing.

Yield: One loaf.

Note: For a crowd, double the recipe and spread batter in a greased and floured 10- inch tube pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour and 20 minutes, or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean.

This wheat germ and apple dessert can be a last minute inspiration. A great idea to have on hand when you need a hearty dessert to finish off your dinner menu. Putting it together takes no longer than tossing a salad and it can be baking while you're eating the main course. The pudding is delicious hot or cold and only takes about half an hour oven time. A puff of whipped cream or ice cream on top adds to its goodness. If there's any left over, it would make a tasty midnight snack.

WHEAT GERM AND APPLE DESSERT

1/2 cup regular wheat germ
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg
3/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups chopped pared apple
Whipped cream

Mix wheat germ, flour, baking powder, cinnamon, salt and nutmeg.

Beat egg until light and fluffy. Beat in sugar. Combine with dry ingredients and apples.

Bake in 350- degree oven 30 to 35 minutes or until crusty on top and pick inserted in center comes out clean.

Serve warm or cooled with whipped cream.

Good Morning Bread

Wheat Germ Dessert

SHS wins 9th straight

It was a miserable afternoon with a cold, wet uncomfortable rain falling but Mitch Walker hit and pitched the Sikeston Bulldogs to a 10- 2 win over Charleston at V. F. W. Stadium Thursday afternoon. Except for an inning or relief a week ago, it was the first real pitching action for Walker since the doubleheader at West Plains in mid- April. But, the senior righthander showed good control, despite going to numerous three- ball counts, and walked just one while fanning seven. The Jays did reach him for nine hits, but most of them should have been caught and would have been caught except for the fact that the regulars were sitting on the bench. At the game's end, Walker, centerfielder Greg Colwick and shortstop Kenny Stokes were the only normal starters on the field and the latter two were out of their normal positions as Coach N. P. McDaniel emptied his bench, playing all 17 players on the bench.

Not only did Walker pitch the distance for his fifth win, but the smallish hurler ripped out three hits. That feat raised his average to .378.

Normally a pitcher, Rich Blankenship, played the outfield and infield and slapped out two safeties. Lance Hesselrode, Rick Love and Blankenship each drove home two runs. Kenny Stokes, Bruce Lawrence and Blankenship each scored twice.

Sikeston scored three times in the second off the Jay starter, Junior Delay. And, then they added four to that total in the bottom of the fourth as a steady rain fell. However, the downpour stopped and stalling tactics by Delay and his teammates proved futile and probably cost them a couple runs as the Charleston righthander lost his rhythm and was forced to leave the game.

The only runs off Walker came in the fifth. At that time he was sailing along with a two- hitter, but the first three reached- two on errors-- and Butch Smoot socked a one- out single to score the runs.

The last three by Sikeston came off reliever Quatermous in the fifth as wildness and errors hurt the visiting hurler. He did come back in the sixth and set Sikeston down in order-- the only time it happened all day.

The win was the ninth in a row for Sikeston, who host the regional tournament beginning a week from Friday. Before that, however, they meet one of the three others involved in that tournament when they take on Fox of Arnold this Saturday. The Bulldogs will take a 15- 3 record into that contest.

Celtics are back

With a 3-2 lead over the Milwaukee Bucks, the Celtics seek their first National Basketball Association championship since 1969 and their 12th in history tonight in the sixth game of the best-of-seven series at Boston Garden.

"We're going to win it," Heinsohn said confidently. "On any given night either team can win, but we've beaten them twice on their court and now we're back in Boston."

"We've put a lot of pressure on ourselves, but it's not over yet," countered Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello. "We had the same pressure here (fourth game) last Sunday and we won. However, we've got our work cut out."

There's a great difference in the Celtics' style from the Russell era. With Russell revolutionizing the game with his defensive genius, the Celtics won 11 NBA titles in 13 years on the shooting of such greats as Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman, Sam Jones and Heinsohn.

Now, as Cowens says, "this is a different ball game." The Celtics have shocked the mighty Bucks with a press all over the court. Don Chaney and Jo Jo White, the regular backcourt partners, lead the harrassment which has slowed Milwaukee in all but one of the first five games.

"We've never pressed like this, it's phenomenal," Cowens said. "During the regular season we play a bother press, but this is a different ball game now."

Rams inch closer

The Rams were the runnerup to the state championship last season.

The Rams rallied for three of their runs after two were out. In the bottom of the third frame Ralph Heissier drew a walk, stole second and came home on Danny Gentry's single. Mike Shaffer singled to drive in Gentry and the Rams led 2-0.

In the third inning Steve Hanschan drove in a run after an error had opened the gate. The Rams final run was score in the fifth after two were out Gentry doubled and Schaffer singled to score the run.

Hayti repeats

HAYTI — Coach Jerry Cecil's HHS Indians made their second entry into the state baseball playoffs by downing the North Pemiscot Mustangs 7-0 Thursday afternoon.

The Indians won their district last season before being defeated at Van Buren.

Bobby Alexander was more than the Mustangs could handle as the fireballer limited NPHS to only two hits in the game. The first hit didn't come for the Mustangs until two were retired in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Jerry Stewart pitched four innings before being relieved by Joe Jennings and took the loss as the Indians plated six runs in the top of the third inning.

Robert fans 14

Oran remained undefeated in the Southeast Missouri Softball League Wednesday night with a 6-1 victory over the New Hamburg Blues.

Donnie Robert turned in a three hit pitching performance for the win, fanning 14 Blues batters through the seven inning contest.

Don Metz and Henry Dirnberger paced a nine hit Oran offensive attack with three and two hits respectively. Metz connected for a two run home while Bill Glasstetter slammed one for the Blues.

Robert won Oran's opening game, connecting for a double in the last of the seventh to drive home the games only run against the Cape Girardeau Jets.

NEW YORK (AP) — National Basketball Association players involved have expressed "outrage" over an arbitrator's decision against permitting them to participate in a scheduled all-star game against the American Basketball Association, says Larry Fleisher executive director of the NBA Players Association.

"All of the players involved are shocked by the callous approach by owners in attempting to stop the game for whatever personal or presumed business reasons they have," Fleisher said Thursday after arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled that participation by NBA players would be in violation of their contracts.

League Commission Walter Kennedy also announced that Seitz had found that by organizing and planning the game, scheduled for May 18 in Providence, R. I., the NBA Players Association had violated its collective bargaining agreement with the league.

Fleisher said after the ruling he had called player representatives and players who in turn had made appeals to club owners and to the league, to no avail.

"The players expressed surprise that owners would attempt to deprive 15 to 20 million fans from watching the game on TV, second, prevent Providence fans from watching the game, and, most importantly, deprive the beneficiaries of the charities involved from the benefits the game would provide.

Sutton holds Padres to 1-hit

The difference between a ONE-hitter and a NO-hitter is a lot more than the letter E.

With one out in the second inning, John Grubb bounced a ground ball up the middle that just tipped off the glove of Los Angeles shortstop Bill Russell for a single.

It wasn't a big hit. But to Don Sutton, it must have seemed like a 600-foot home run.

"I really wanted to pitch a no-hitter," said Sutton, who pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Thursday night. "But I can't complain about the hit Grubb got tonight. I threw him a change-up and he did what a good hitter should do—he hit it up the middle."

Elsewhere in the major leagues, the Kansas City Royals downed the Texas Rangers 6-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 4-1; the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1, and the Boston Red Sox blanked the New York Yankees 2-0.

Sutton, who owns two other on-hit efforts, struck out five and walked two.

Royals 6,
Rangers 1

Marty Pattin retired 19 straight batters after Dave Nelson's leadoff bunt single in the first and went on to record his first victory as a Royal with a four-hitter.

The loss dropped Texas .003 percentage points behind Chicago and into a tie for second with California.

tros 1

Jim Rooker's hitting got in the way of his pitching Thursday night. He doubled in the eighth inning and scored on Rennie Stennett's single to finish the Pirates' scoring and bring his record to 2-2. Rooker, who struck out four and walked four before Dave Giusti came on to face the Astros in the bottom of the eighth, said, "I got tired after doing all that running in the eighth inning."

Cubs 3, Braves 1

Until the seventh, the game's only run was set up by home run king Hank Aaron's first stolen base of the season.

Aaron, who had a season-high of 31 bases in 1963, totaled only six in the past three years.

Lockman said he wouldn't have been embarrassed if the final score were 1-0, "but I'd have been damned angry. Sure I know he's 40 but he's still a great ballplayer."

Red Sox 2, Yankees 0

Career Exploring offers job situation experience

By BARB MAYFIELD

Teenagers and adults throughout the Sikeston area have recently been involved in the new Career Exploring movement sweeping across the country.

Career Exploring offers today's youth the opportunity to experience various job situations in an effort to decide the direction of their future careers. Teens can explore their different job interests and discover whether they really want to enter such fields as lifetime careers.

Other than the district chairman and several post advisors, Career Exploring is run solely by the youth of America. Teens hold the various national, state, district, and post offices.

An Exploring post is a group of teenagers interested in a common job area; not necessarily the same job in particular, but the same field.

For instance, an education post would be involved with all aspects of education, such as administration, teaching, counseling, coaching, etc.

A member of an education post might have entered the group with interests only in becoming a professional teacher, but may discover through the posts efforts that they would be happier and more satisfied in the administration branch of education.

With this discovery, the youth can then direct his remaining course of study toward education administration, rather than studying to be a teacher, securing a teaching position and then discovering he has entered the wrong area of education for himself, personally.

Career Exploring also helps teens develop leadership and responsibility and gives them a chance to enter the adult work world and discover just what it is really like to be a member of the working class, on a full- time scale.

The organization also offers float trips, road rallies, swimming parties and other recreation for members to meet new people and exchange ideas.

Anyone interested in joining Career Exploring should attend the Career Exploring meeting May 14 at 7 p.m. in the high school cafetorium, or contact Mike Kilgore, district chairman.

Ex-Sikeston man learns new measure for success

By PAT GROJEAN

When Larry Bell returned to Sikeston a couple of years ago, it was not exactly in the way he had formerly dreamed. When Bell, who now heads a gospel singing trio, The New Creation, left Sikeston in 1951, he made up his mind to return someday as a successful and financially secure man.

This was his dream because he had had to work so hard at a variety of jobs when he was a child.

When Bell did return to Sikeston, he returned in a bus with his own gospel singing trio but with little monetary success.

However, Bell is happy with his present life of traveling around the country singing and giving testimony for the Lord. He has been traveling about two and a half years since giving up ownership of a small weekly newspaper and commercial printing business in Spokane, Wash., to do what he felt the Lord was calling him to do.

Bell still has relatives around the Sikeston area. His grandfather, W. T. Bell, lives in Sikeston as does an uncle and a cousin. Two other uncles live in towns nearby.

The New Creation will perform at First General Baptist Church in Dexter at 7:30 each night through Sunday.

Other engagements in this area include Eastside Church of the Nazarene in Sikeston at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Temple of Faith General Baptist Church in Sikeston at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, the Church of God in Dexter at 7:30 p.m. next Friday and White Oak Gorve General Baptist Church in Bernie at 10 a.m. May 19.

The gospel singing group was organized in 1970 in Spokane, where Bell still maintains a home base. For the first two years the group sang on weekends and became more popular as time passed.

Bell said he had always had a little dream to be in gospel music, but when he started the group he didn't really have the dedication. "After a year I found it wasn't as glamorous as I had expected," he said.

He explained that just as the group was about to break up, they felt God talking to them at their last service, and he was called to give his testimony and commit himself before 800 people for whom they had just performed. Six months later, Bell said God opened the door for them to become full- time gospel singers, providing an opportunity and requests for them to spread their type of gospel.

The group has recorded two albums, "Something Worth Living For", released about two and a half years ago, and "We've Come This Far by Faith", which has been recorded but not yet released.

"We are one of the few full- time groups in our area," Bell said. He explained that most gospel groups have a full- time evangelist, as well as a singing ensemble. Bell said The New Creation has no formal evangelist, but the group members relate their own personal testimonies and encounters, in addition to singing.

The New Creation performs a conservative type of religious music, which Bell likens to that performed by the Bill Gaither trio. "It is not loud music," Bell said, "and almost every song has a message." He added that the group does not have the inclination to be entertainers, but simply tries to put across a message about God with their songs.

"We go strictly on faith," Bell said, explaining that at each of their performances a special offering is taken, and they get no guaranteed amount. He and the other two members of the group, his wife Beverly and sister-in- law, Barbara Prohaska, trust God to provide for their needs..." and so far he has," Bell added.

One purpose of the group is to show people that just an ordinary person, with no special educational degree or talent can make a large contribution to others and to the world. He said they hope to defeat the theory that you have to keep up with— and even ahead— of the Joneses.

"We hope to provide encouragement because we are simple nobodies that the Lord has found a place for," Bell said.

Being a gospel singer is not really an easy life, Bell said. "We never know whether we will get enough money to get gas to go to the next place," Bell said, then added, "But we've never been stopped yet."

Although traveling across the country singing religious music is not as financially rewarding as the newspaper business Bell sold, he said he now has many rewards that money can't buy. "We feel like we're contributing something," he added.

They have sung in churches of just about every denomination and, in the four years they have been performing have driven about half a million miles without having an accident. "It's just almost a miracle," Bell said.

Bell has been invited to be a youth minister and bus pastor several different times. Each time though, he said he has asked the Lord if this is what he wants him to do, and each time "he's made it clear that he wants us to keep traveling." When he finally does stop traveling and singing, he says he would like to get involved with youth and have a religious printing shop.

Bell feels freer today, and not owned by a lot of things. "Assets are measured in a different way," he said.

"If someone had told me 25 years ago that I'd be back here as a gospel singer, I'd have thought they were nuts," Bell said in concluding an interview on his thoughts about his life and Sikeston.

Gospel singers visit

THE GOSPEL CONFRONTS CULTURE

The gospel has the power to challenge the evil structures of society and to bring about radical changes in our sense of values and stewardship.

Paul found it necessary to learn all he could about the culture of the people he visited and attempted to convert to Christianity.

For some eighteen months Paul preached in Corinth. There he practiced his craft of tentmaking while he preached regularly in the synagogue. Then he resumed his journey, visiting many communities.

The Jews continued to hear Paul's plea to them that the Messiah was Jesus. Some believed while others refused this new philosophy. When groups refused to accept his words, Paul left to hold discussions elsewhere.

Changes, of course, can be costly. Yet the preaching of the gospel should bring constructive and social changes in society. These changes, unfortunately, are not always evident from the start.

In today's message we learn about some Jewish exorcists who attempted to draw out demons in the name of Jesus and Paul. They were unsuccessful since they themselves had not accepted Jesus.

The success of Paul's work prompted many persons to openly confess their former belief in charms, spells and witchcraft. Ephesus was a community famous for its magical writings. No doubt books were widely sold revealing these secret beliefs

However, when Paul spoke to them the people brought so many books to be burned that their value was placed at fifty thousand pieces of silver.

Any such action can disturb the economy of a nation. So it was that Demetrius, a famous silversmith who employed many persons to make idols for worship, learned about the book burning incident and warned his people about the economic disaster that they would suffer should such teachings continue unabbated.

We witness then another incident in which Christianity challenged the prevailing pagan business practices of Paul's day. When the crowds threatened Paul they were held back until a local official calmed them down.

Few persons today worship silver gods or idols. Unfortunately, many have other gods, such as drugs, alcohol, status, etc. There are still more gods created by merchants to attract youths.

Behind such gods are emotional drives. Demetrius drove his followers by emotional threats to their economic future. When a person's economic status is threatened, he is likely to respond to emotional claims from others. In this instance, Paul's traveling companions were arrested in an excited atmosphere.

We have witnessed this in America in recent years. The government, in an attempt that failed, sought to curb cigarette smoking by banning ads on the air. Companies also had to place warning notices on each pack sold, yet cigarette sales continued to climb.

For years we have argued over gun controls. Vested interests lobby to gain their goals over the opposition to such laws.

Temperance lessons should turn more and more on Christian love and understanding, less and less on enforced governmental regulations.

In Paul's day the Christian message sought to convert persons from the worship of idols to belief in the words of Jesus. Today's ministers face a similar challenge. However, they must attack more gods who are fighting for our time, money, and devotion.

Although the times are different the solution to society's ills and addictions remain in our willingness to place full faith in God.

Work begins on church expansion, remodeling

PORTAGEVILLE — The Assembly of God Church in Portageville has announced that work began Monday on an expansion and remodeling project for the church. A 55 per cent growth last year and the expanding ministry of the church were cited as factors in undertaking the project.

The present building is being enlarged to include more classrooms, a new nursery, new restrooms and a balcony to add much needed seating.

The sanctuary is being completely remodeled and the exterior of the church is being bricked. An annex is to be added to the front of the present building.

Harper and Bollinger Construction Co. of Kennett is doing the work which is slated for completion by June 16 which will be the Church's annual Homecoming Day.

The pastor is the Rev. Mike Jackson.

Settlement reached in church dispute

ESSEX — A settlement has been reached in a Circuit Court case involving a dispute between two church groups over the use of the name Cline's Island General Baptist Church.

Under the terms of the agreement, the defendants in the case have agreed to discontinue use of the name, Original Cline's Island General Baptist Church, and will be known in the future as the Castor River General Baptist Church. The church is located on Route N a short distance north of Route AB on Essex Route Two, and the pastor is the Rev. Henry Smith.

Cline's Island General Baptist Church, also on Essex Route Two, is located on Route AB approximately one-half mile east of the Castor River, and the pastor is the Rev. Ronnie Ledbetter.

Vacation Bible School faculty is announced

RISCO— The Pleasant View General Baptist Church Vacation Bible School faculty and workers have been announced.

Don Joyce and the Rev. Vernon Self, adult teachers; Mrs. Nevel Ornder, teen moderator, assisted by Beverly Meadows, Paula Coffer, Janet Keaster, Billie Gail Warth and Lisa Pettigrew; Iris McCord and Susie Perrigan, junior teachers; Deema Pettigrew and Joyce Joyce. Primary teachers, and Darlene Edwards and Thelma Bailey, nursery workers.

Bible study sessions will be held Monday through Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. May 13- 24. Classes are planned for every age group.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

134. Saul Summons David

Shortly after Samuel had anointed David, Saul was troubled by an evil spirit. Some of Saul's aides suggested that they find an accomplished musician to play the harp to soothe the king during his moments of torment and depression.

One of the king's servants suggested that David, the son of Jesse, be summoned, for he was not only a talented harp player, but also was a handsome, brave, strong young man with good, sound judgment. "And David came to Saul, and stood before him: and he loved him greatly; and he became his armourbearer." (I Samuel 16:21)

Then Saul, who admired and loved David from the instant he saw him, asked Jesse to allow David to join his staff. "And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took a harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him." (I Samuel 16:23)

Today in U.S. History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1871, the Treaty of Frankfurt ended the Franco-Prussian War. AlsaceLorraine was ceded to Germany.

On this date—

In 1775, Ethan Allen and a company of Vermont militiamen —the Green Mountain Boys—captured Fort Ticonderoga, N.Y., from the British.

In 1941, the Nazi leader, Rudolf Hess, landed by parachute in Scotland in a private effort to make peace.

One year ago: Former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans were indicted by a federal grand jury in New York on conspiracy charges.

Thought for today: Humility is the solid foundation of all the virtues — Confucius, Chinese philosopher, 551-479 B.C.

Mother's Day is busiest of year for long distance

Mother will be the most popular woman in the country Sunday, but Long Distance phone calls to her may run into some delays during the evening rush, according to Southwestern Bell mamager Mike Smith.

"Mother's Day has always been the busiest Long Distance calling day of the year," he said. "Chances of getting calls through promptly are better during the day. Also, it's more economical to call before 5 p.m. when the higher evening rates begin."

Smith said 38 operators will be on duty locally Sunday to handle calls. Last year, Sikeston operators handled 4,401 calls, while 49,125 customers dialed their Long Distance calls directly.

"Statewide, we expect Sunday's callers to place about 482,000 calls," he said. "That's about 22,000 more than were placed last Christmas."

Smith said that callers could save money and would stand a better chance of getting their calls through quickly by dialing their calls directly the One-Plus way, without going through the operator. The manager also said that callers should avoid the heaviest calling rush, usually between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

May 12 begins Healty Baby Week

Mother's Day, this Sunday, marks the beginning of Healthy Baby Week, according to Mrs. Sandy Kilgore of Sikeston Junior Women's Club. "The club's goal this week is to inform every expectant mother about prenatal care in Sikeston," she said.

"We are delighted to participate with The National Foundation - March of Dimes in this annual drive," added Mrs. Kilgore.

Frequent care from a physician or clinic throughout pregnancy is imperative for the protection of mother and baby, she notes.

Every mother wants her baby to be born healthy and whole; and that is why Sikeston Junior Women's Club is sponsoring a March of Dimes Road Block on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Kingsway Plaza Mall Intersection and the Shoe Factory Intersection.

The money collected at these road blocks will go for the purchase of pediatric equipment for Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

The ice cream sundae, one of today's most popular ice cream desserts, was born in Evanston, Illinois because of a strange law. When a law was passed forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday, local merchants got around it by serving ice cream with just syrup. The "sodaless soda" came to be known as a "Sunday" but then objections arose naming a dessert after the Lord's Day, so it became known as a sundae, but it, like the soda, was not banned.

Something that homemakers like more than an ice cream sundae, a Miracle Water Refiner, was born not because of any law, but to create clean, refreshing sparkling water throughout your home. The Miracle Water Refiner not only softens, it cleans, removes taste and odor such as chlorine and it filters your water as well. Once you see and enjoy the difference, you will never want to go back to ordinary tap water. Your cooked foods will taste better, your floors and walls will sparkle, your laundry will smell fresher, be softer and cleaner. Call Braswell and find out more about this modern wonder today.

Moore files motion for suit dismissal

BENTON — Scott County Pros. Atty. Jim Moore announced during Thursday's County Court session that he has filed a motion for dismissal of a $15,165 damage suit against the county judges and Regan Harris, the county highway engineer.

The suit was filed in April by Hedrick Concrete Products Co. of Sikeston for damages one of its trucks received in a fall through a bridge last October near New Hamburg.

Moore said he filed the motion in Circuit Court Wednesday on grounds the petition failed to state a proper cause of action upon which relief could be granted and also alleging that any such action was barred by the doctrine of sovereign immunity. Moore said there are Missouri cases which state the county is free from suits in negligence actions.

The suit states that on Oct. 19, 1973, Albert Middleton, an employe of the Hedrick firm, was driving a conceret mixer truck across a steel frame bridge with wooden bottom over Caney Creek, located three miles south of New Hamburg on the Oran- New Hamburg Road (Highway 77), when the bridge collapsed, resulting in extensive damage to the truck as a direct result of the carelessness and negligence of the County Court.

The suit alleges that it is the obligation of the county judges to maintain safe roads and bridges within Scott County and that the judges, although often warned of the dangers and hazards of the bridge, failed and refused to take any action to make it safe for the traveling public.

It also states that Harris has failed to inspect the bridge and perform the duties of the highway engineer, that he failed to make reports on the bridge that it should be repaired, failed to make or designate it as a low load limit bridge and failed to install a sign advising the motoring public of the weight capacity of the bridge.

The court announced that it has accepted a bid of $4,354 from Handy Moore of Sikeston for 14 acres of land in the northwest section of the county's sanitary landfill one mile north of Morley.

Other bids were submitted by Tony Heckemeyer of Sikeston for $4,270 and J. Bledsoe of Sikeston for $1,976.

Presiding Judge Les Lankford said the county is unable to use this land because of its location on the slope of a hill with water running the wrong direction. "This watershed would hurt farm crops in the surrounding areas (if the land was used for a landfill)," he said.

Missing woman being sought

CHAFFEE — Sylvia L. Toehill, 62, of Chaffee Route One has been reported missing, according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Mrs. Toehill was reported missing Thursday by neighbors who said they had not seen her at home all week and stated that she has a heart condition.

She was last seen at approximately 12:30 a.m. Saturday leaving Big E Tavern in Chaffee.

Mrs. Toehill is 5 feet 5 inches tall weighs 135 pounds and has blue eyes and gray hair.

Anyone with information about Mrs. Toehill is asked to contact the sheriff's department or Chaffee police.

Curtis reported in fair condition

Lindol Curtis, accused of slaying his former wife and her mother Tuesday night, was listed in fair condition in Kennedy Veterans Hospital this morning in Memphis, Tenn.

He was incorrectly reported Thursday as being a patient at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis. Curtis is recovering from an overdose of drugs taken after the shooting.

Taylor fined

CHARLESTON — Donald Taylor of Sikeston, arrested Thursday on charges of disturbing the peace and destroying private and public property, was fined $28 this morning in City Court.

Honors reception time correction

The Sikeston High School honors reception will begin at 7 p.m. Monday in the high school cafetorium, not 7:30 p.m., as previously announced, according to principal Roger Sherman.

The reception honors students in the top 10 per cent of grades 10-12 and their parents.

John Moll, vice president of wholesale food distribution for Malone & Hyde Inc. in Nashville, Tenn., and a Sikeston High School graduate will be the guest speaker.

Area students will graduate from TRCC

POPLAR BLUFF-- Two students from Scott County will receive degrees and certificates during the sixth annual commencement exercises at Three Rivers Community College. The graduation ceremonies will be held at 8 p.m. today in First Baptist Church.

Garron Hanley of Oran will receive an associate in applied science degree, and Benjamin Schmitt of Chaffee will be awarded a certificate of occupations by the college.

7 treated

home in the afternoons and picking up their papers. She said she went by late in the afternoon of March 12 and that nothing in the house was disturbed at that time.

Leonard Cortez Poley of East Prairie, charged with a second offense of driving while intoxicated, was fined $100. He also was fined $25 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was revoked. The 40-day jail sentence was suspended on payment of fines.

Burglary and larceny charges against Dale McMillen, Ronnie McMillen and Lloyd Dean of Charleston were continued one week to give them time to employ attorneys. The three are accused of breaking into a barn owned by W. S. Babb of Charleston on April 20 and stealing a five- gallon can of farm chemical. All are free on $1,000 bond.

Larry Lindel Hale of Benton Route One received a total of $140 in fines plus costs or a 30- day jail sentence on charges of driving while intoxicated, unlicensed operator and careless and imprudent driving by failure to stop for a stop sign.

Peace disturbance charges brought a $33.75 fine to Albert Perry and a $32.25 fine to Mary Petty of Wyatt. William Eugene Housman of Charleston paid a $21 fine on a charge of careless and imprudent driving.

A warrant was issued for Ricky Lee Patrick of East Prairie after he failed to appear on a charge of underage possession of five per cent beer.

A charge of driving while intoxicated and underage possession of beer against Sammy Dale Morgan of Charleston was continued to May 16. Also continued to May 16 was a charge of possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) against Monty Lenden Thurman of Charleston, who is free on $5,000 bond.

In civil action, a default judgment of $364.14 and costs was awarded to C. H. Randall, doing business as Bootheel L. P. Gas Co. in an account suit brought against James Lay. Randall also received default judgement of $413.49 and costs in an account suit brought against Chester Scott.

Cases in Magistrate Court earlier this week included: Harold Gene Gough, speeding, $38; Vivian Sparks, driving while intoxicated, $124.50; Sid Franklin Clymer, driving while intoxicated, $123; and Jeffrey Allen Flesmer, speeding, $71.

World news in brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tape of a White House conversation two months before the June 1972 Watergate burglary emerged today as a key piece of evidence missing in the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment probe.

Committee sources said a subpoena for the tape will probably be issued next week.

The tape of an April 4, 1972, meeting between President Nixon, former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell is one of 76 Watergate tapes Nixon has refused to turn over to the committee.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Police opened fire Thursday night on hundreds of protesting students, and hospital spokesmen said six of the young people were wounded.The students were protesting the death on Wednesday of a demonstrator shot by police during a march on the Guatemalan embassy. The marchers were protesting the outcome of the presidential election in Guatemala, where the congress declared the conservative candidate the victor after a close race with a leftist.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Mariner 10 spacecraft, which provided the first closeup photos of Mercury, was undergoing a change of course today so scientists can take another look at the planet closest to the sun next September

Rockets aboard the spacecraft were fired for 3 minutes and 15 seconds Thursday and another burn of 2 minutes 19 seconds was scheduled for this afternoon.

A spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the maneuver is designed to alter Mariner's course so that its television cameras will be aimed at the bright side of Mercury when it passes within 29,500 miles of the planet on Sept. 21. Mariner is currently orbiting around the sun.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a bill to provide an official residence for the vice president on the Naval Observatory grounds.

The three-story house, built in 1893, has been occupied for 40 years as the residence of the chief of naval operations.

The resolution, sponsored by 32 senators including former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, would take over the property, along with 12 acres of surrounding grounds, when it is vacated. That will be about July 1 with the retirement of the present Navy chief, Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr.

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI has added his voice to the Roman Catholic church's campaign for repeal of Italy's divorce law in a referendum Sunday and Monday. The Pope met for an hour Thursday with Italian bishops and announced his full support for their repeal drive. Although a staunch opponent of divorce, the pontiff had not previously taking notice of the referendum in a public statement. He said he fully supported their stand in favor of the "indissolubility of marriage." About 35 million Italians are eligible to vote whether the three-year-old law permitting divorce should remain on the books. A majority vote against the law will automatically repeal it.

Roddy McDowall dons his "Planet of the Apes" wardrobe for musical monkeyshines with Carol Burnett, and Miss Burnett gives a music lesson to the Jackson Five recording stars-- two of the musical- comedy highlights of "The Carol Burnett Show" Saturday, May 11 (10:00- 11:00 PM, EDT) on the CBS Television Network. (Originally presented on the Network on March 16, 1974.)

In comedy sketches, McDowall appears as a world-famous author returning for a short visit to his hometown, only to be greeted by his sister (Miss Burnett), his mother (Vicki Lawrence) and his brother-in- law (Harvey Korman), all of whom are completely wrapped up in their own daily lives and ignore him.

Miss Burnett plays a lady carpenter reporting to the job, only to be confronted by two male- chauvinist co-workers (Korman and Lyle Waggoner) who resent her, and Miss Burnett and McDowall are seen as two lonely people, unhappily married to others, who share a brief encounter in an English tea shop.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, MO. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A replica of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation.

CALL 334-4200 for information or write Beltone Hearing Aid Center, 1901 Broadway, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701

BUTCH PATRICK
Mark in 'Lidsville'
Saturdays, NBC
Television Network

Since 1971 Butch Patrick has been "Mark" of the magical land of Lidsville. However, the teen- age actor has a long history of involvement with strange and wonderful people, such as the inhabitants of Lidsville, including The Munsters (he was the youngest member of the TV family). An actor by accident, Butch accompanied his mother and sister when the little girl went to a major studio to test for a film role. She failed to get the part but the studio hired Butch on the spot.

Born in Inglewood, California, Butch also has two younger brothers who are often seen in TV commercials. He has starred in two Walt Disney features, "Way Down Cellar" and "The Loner" and was featured in the motion pictures "The Phantom Tollbooth" and "The Sandpit General."

Johnny Whitaker
'Sigmund and the Sea Monsters'
Saturdays,
NBC Television Network

Johnny Whitaker made his professional debut in a television commerical. Six months later he appeared in the live program "Day In Court."

The exposure was all Johnny needed. After displaying remarkable poise and professional instincts, he was acting in network television shows, including "General Hospital." "Bonanza." "Gunsmoke," "Lancer," "Green Acres" and "Bewitched."

He made his motion picture debut in the 1966 film "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," starring Brian Keith, who urged television director Don Fedderson to select Johnny to co-star in his new "Family Affair" show. During the six year run, he also starred in the NBC-TV "Hallmark Hall of Fame's" Christmas special, "The Littlest Angel."

Since "Family Affair" was cancelled in 1971, Johnny has starred in the Walt Disney films "The Biscuit Eater," "Napoleon and Samantha," "Snowball Express" and, most recently, "Tom Sawyer."

Johnny lives with his parents, five sisters and two brothers in San Fernando, Calif.

REBECCA BELL
Correspondent

Rebecca Bell, based in Chicago, was named an NBC News correspondent in January, 1973. Previously, from November, 1970, she had been a reporter with WMAQ-TV, the NBC Television Station in Chicago. In 1972, she was put on temporary assignment as NBC-TV Network political reporter to cover the Presidential election campaign of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Journalism became Miss Bell's career shortly after she graduated from Cornell University with a B. A. degree in 1962. That year she joined NBC News as a reporter for WDSU-TV, the NBC affiliate in New Orleans. Following that, she spent a brief time at KYW- TV in Philadelphia during 1964 before moving on to WKYC-TV in Cleveland in 1965, where she covered the state legislature and City Hall for three years. In 1968 she joined WRC-TV in Washington, D.C., and divided her time covering politics in Washington, New York and Chicago.

Miss Bell was born in Vicksburg, Miss.

FRANK BOURGHOLTZER
NBC News
Correspondent

NBC News correspondent Frank Bourgholtzer, assigned to the Los Angeles bureau, has headed some of the top NBC News bureaus overseas and has reported many important events since joining NBC in 1946 as a member of the Washington news staff.

His first major assignment, in 1947, was White House correspondent. He was chief of the Paris bureau from 1953 to 1955, the Bonn bureau (1955-56), Vienna bureau (1957-58) and Moscoe bureau (1961-63). From 1958 to 1961 he was State Department correspondent. When the Soviet government ordered the Moscow bureau closed in 1963, he reported from Helsinki, and, later, Paris. He returned to Moscow in January, 1965, after Soviet authorities permitted the reopening of the bureau. From July, 1965, until he was transferred to the Los Angeles bureau in 1969, he was again based in Paris.

MARTIN MILNER

Wednesdays, NBC Television Network

Three years ago Martin Milner decided that ranch life, away from the bustling city, would be ideal. He purchased a 24 -acre plot with 2,500 avocado trees near Fallbrook, Calif., about 90 miles from Hollywood, and built a house which he designed.

Milner spends much of his spare time at home with his wife and four children but plans to continue acting indefinitely.

Milner, who stars as Officer Pete Malloy on the NBC Television Network's "Adam -12" series, made his acting debut at age 10 in a children's play in Seattle, Wash.

A native of Detroit, Milner moved to Seattle, where he attended grade school. While a teen -ager, he moved to North Hollywood, Calif. In high school he prepared for his acting career by hiring an acting coach, which led to his acquiring an agent. He later studied theatre arts at the University of Southern California.

HIs first major motion picture role came in 1947 when he played John Day, the second oldest son in "Life With Father."

Shortly after finishing the film, Milner was stricken with polio. There were periods of despair but he recovered completely after being bedridden for a year.

In 1952 his career again was interrupted, this time by induction into the Army for a two -year hitch. He was assigned to direct 20 training films. In addition, he served as a master of ceremonies for a touring show unit based at Fort Ord, Calif.

While still in the Army he was cast in "The Long Gray Line," the 1955 film starring Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara.

But 1957 was probably the momentous year of his life. Milner married actress -singer Judy Jones; he won an important role in Hecht -Hill Lancaster production, "Sweet Smell of Success." and he played a major part in the Warner Bros. picture, "Marjorie Morningstar."

Three years later, Milner began a four -year run starring as Tod Stiles in the Tv series , "Route 66." He traveled all over the country while doing the show.

When "Route 66" ended, Milner returned to motion pictures and guest -star roles on TV.

Milner's firm, dependable manner has led him to be tagged "a modern John Wayne." But instead of riding a horse, he's usually behind the wheel of a patrol car. This season will be the sixth year for "Adam -12," and the sixth year the Milner will be the wheel man in the police unit.

Carly's Life Becomes Positive

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Miss Simon and Sarah go into the living room so that Mother can be interviewed. The tea drinking continues, with pauses for smiles, spitups and coos from Sarah, born Jan. 7. Father sings, now and again, in another room.

"They're only at this age where they need your undivided attention for a short time," Miss Simon says. "They're so helpless. They can't walk or talk. At this point I don't like to leave her for very long. It's such a tender age.

"All my clothes have this kind of funny smell and over the shoulders there is a little crust. There's an amazing amount of spitup in this house. We got an Oriental rug so it won't show."

CARLY SIMON

Her songs these days reflect the domestic contentment that can be seen in this house. The most recent album, "Hot Cakes," reached No. 3 on the best-selling chart of March 16 and is going down very slowly, No. 6 on April 6. "Mockingbird," a single from it by Taylor and Miss Simon, was No. 3 on March 30 and April 6. "Haven't Had Time for the Pain" one of two co-written by Jack Brackman, will be the next single released.

"My last album in many ways showed a much more contented person. I was struggling a lot less with myself. Some critics called it frivolous. I just had happy subjects to write about rather than bleak, gloomy ones. It is funny that critics should consider something frivolous if it is content. If you're an artist you should always be struggling and always at the point of despair.

"At times now when I'm at the point of despair I'm not as inclined to write about it as I used to be. That's what the lines mean in 'Misfit.' 'It is hip to be miserable if you're young and intellectual. In a bit you'll admit you're a misfit.' It's making fun of neurotic persons who want to be more neurotic so they can be a real artist. They think the only way they can be a real artist is if they're neurotic.

"I'm less interested in my despair than in my happiness at the moment. My unhappiness used to intrigue me beyond belief. Now I'm kind of tired of that image.

"A lot of it has to do with self-image. I no longer think of myself as being primarily despondent. I think of myself as being actively trying to deal with my life in a positive way. I just enjoy things now. I don't take pride in self-pity. A happy marriage is a big part of that. It has got to be.

"I still do write songs to try to solve problems. When I'm groping with something I can't figure out an answer to I'll try to work it into a song and work it out like that. It is not as if I only write about positive things.

Robert Ryan (left) portrays the ruler of an underwater paradise whose reluctant visitors, played by Chuck Connors and Nanette Newman, seek to escape, in "Captain Nemo and the Underwater City" on "The CBS Friday Night Movies" Friday, May 17 (9:00-11:00 PM, EDT) in color on the CBS Television Network.

Friday Highlights

7:00 CBS— DIRTY SALLY— A chain- gang fugitive bargains with Sally and Pike for a few hours of freedom to visit his expectant wife. If they'll grant him this favor, he promises to allow them to turn him in and collect the reward.

7:00 NBC— SANFORD & SON— 'Fuentes, Fuentes, and Sanford and Chico." Lamont and Julio go into the used- auto-parts business which drives Fred to skid row.

7:00 ABC— BUSHMEN OF THE KALAHARI— "The Bushmen people of Southern Africa— a group whose primitive lives were filmed in detail 20 years ago by anthropologist John Marshall— are revisited by Marshall to study the changes in their existence. Under an endowment from the National Geographic Society in 1973, Marshall returned to the Kalahari Desert to look for some of the tribesmen he once knew, and to record the changes in Bushmen life. The narrator for this special is Leslie Nielsen

8:00 ABC— SIX MILLION DOLLAR MAN— "Survival of the Fittest", with guest stars James McEachin, William Smith, Christine Belford and Randy Carver. Steve Austin and Oscar Goldman find their lives threatened by a force out to sabotage negotiations between Russia and the United States

8:00 NBC— GIRL WITH SOMETHING EXTRA— "Irreconcilable Sameness." Donald O'Conner and Audra Lindley guest- star as Sally's parents, who have decided to separate to put more excitement into their lives.

8:00 CBS— MOVIE— "Captain Nemo and the Underwater City" starring Robert Ryan, Chuck Connors. Shipwrecked victims are taken on a fabulous and treacherous journey to a city of gold under the sea in a tale inspired by writer Jules Verne.

8:30 NBC— BRIAN KEITH— "Austin Moves In." Cr. Chaffee moves in to share the Jamison's facilities and immediately Dr. Jamie realizes he should not have agreed to the new arrangement.

9:00 ABC— TOMA— "The Bambara Bust", with guest star Kathleen Widdoes. Dave travels abroad as a professor of archaeology to get at the source of a ring transporting drugs to the U. S. in artifacts carried by American tourists

9:00 WDXR— "Bride of Vengeance" starring Paulette Goddard- MacDonald Carey
WDXR— "Die Monster Die"

10:30 CBS— MOVIE— "The Disorderly Orderly" Starring Jerry Lewis, Susan Oliver. The comedy revolves around the son of a doctor who flunks out of medical school only to become an orderly in a sanitorium, and the humorous incidents surrounding his employment there.

10:30 ABC— WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT— "Say Goodbye, Norma Jean" Elton John who has risen from obscurity to become a multi-millionaire rock star whose records have sold in excess of six million will be the subject of this documentary. The show will follow Elton abroad and at home and reveals that his private life has little in common with the public figure

12:00 ABC— MOVIE— "That Lady"

The Daily Standard

MAY 11, 1974

Dear Friend,

You are aware of the dramatic increase in the price of food, gasoline, clothing, in fact about everything you buy. But are you aware that hospitalization costs have continued to rise to record levels?

According to the American Hospital Association, the average cost per patient day in the hospital reached $105.30 a day in January of 1973, over a 14% increase in just the last year!

Stop for a moment and consider this daily cost against what your present insurance will pay. You will probably discover that your policy will not adequately meet today's high cost of a hospital stay. If it doesn't, you need the supplemental protection of the Americare® Hospitalization Compensation Policy.

Here are some facts about Americare Hospitalization Policies which will appeal to you...

...of the top forty insurance companies writing individual accident and health insurance, American Republic paid 14.3% more in benefits than did the average of the other thirty-nine companies.*

All you have to do to receive additional information about this policy is to fill out and mail the postage-paid reply card below. You will receive the FREE gift. You are under no obligation to buy.

Sincerely,

Watson Powell, Jr.
